OFTEL

TELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT 1984

Proposed Modifications to Licences Granted to Operators of Mobile Radio Telecommunication Services

The Director General of Telecommunications (the "Director") in accordance with section 12 (2) of the Telecommunications Act 1984 (the "Act") hereby gives notice that he proposes to make modifications to the following licences granted under section 7 of the Act:

- (a) the licence granted to Telecom Securicor Cellular Radio Limited on 22nd March 1994;
- (b) the licence granted to Vodafone Limited on 9th December 1993;
- (c) the licence granted to Mercury Personal Communications Limited on 9th May 1995;
- (d) the licence granted to Orange Personal Communications Services Limited on 27th July 1995.

The proposed modification deletes existing provisions on number portability and substitutes new provisions. Minor modifications to existing provisions relating to numbering will be required in consequence.

Number portability, which is described in the proposed modifications as 'Portability', is a facility provided by one telecommunications operator to another whereby a customer who has been allocated a telephone number by an operator providing telephony services can switch supply of those services to another operator and keep the original number. The facility may apply to numbers which relate to a customer's mobile phone and in this case is known as mobile portability. It may also apply to numbers relating to a customer's home or work place, in which case it is known as geographic Portability, or to numbers relating to services such as freephone, local charge, national rate and premium rate or personal numbering, in which case it is known as non-geographic Portability.

The effect of the proposed modifications is to:

- (i) oblige the Licensee to provide Portability on reasonable terms, to any Qualifying Operator in accordance with a Functional Specification. The Functional Specification is a document specifying technical and other principles enabling efficient implementation and utilisation of Portability and is published by the Director following consultation. A Qualifying Operator is a person who has requested a specific type of Portability from the Licensee and can themselves provide the same type of Portability on a reciprocal basis;
- (ii) provide that charges for the provision of Portability must be made in accordance with certain principles. The charges must be based on incremental costs, unless the parties have agreed some other basis or the Director has determined, on the application of either party, that another cost basis is appropriate. Costs are divided into categories defined in the provisions. System Set-Up costs are to be borne by the Licensee; specific charges based on the reasonable costs of providing Portability with respect to each Number are to be borne by the Qualifying Operator, but no charge may be made for any ongoing costs related to registration of a ported number nor may a specific charge be made for Additional Conveyance Costs, which consist in those costs of conveyance incurred in setting up calls to ported numbers over and above the costs of conveyance of a non-ported call;
- (iii) provide that where a Qualifying Operator has sought the provision of Portability from a Licensee, either party may refer the question of the reasonableness of certain matters to the Director for his determination. The provisions specify the matters, which comprise: the request for and extent of Portability; the costs; the basis for charges; the cost categorisation; the proposed charges; and the proposed use of a higher cost method of implementing Portability where a lower cost method could or ought to have been used. The Director will consult before making any determination;
- (iv) provide that Licensees may be obliged to provide a record of Portability transactions, specifying those numbers in relation to which they provide Portability and the operator to whom the facility is provided.
- (v) provide that Licensees ensure that a subscriber may retain his number when transferring service to a new Service Provider.

The Director proposes to make the modifications because he has concluded that the absence of portability inhibits competition in the mobile telecommunication market and that this is detrimental to the interests of consumers and operates against the public interest. The Director considers that without modification of the above mentioned licences, the availability of mobile portability will be unnecessarily restricted and delayed.

The Director is required by section 12(2) of the Act to consider any representations or objections to the proposed modifications which are duly made and not withdrawn. Following consultation, the Director proposes to make the modifications forthwith following the licensees' agreement to them.

Representations or objections to the proposed modifications may be made by 15th August 1997 to: Adam Jackson, OFTEL, 50 Ludgate Hill, London EC4M 7JJ (telephone 0171 634 8875). Any confidential material should be clearly marked as such and separated out into a confidential annex. All representations or objections received by OFTEL, with the exception of material marked confidential, will be made available for inspection in OFTEL's library. Short comments can also be e-mailed to OFTEL on: press.office.oftel@gt.net.gov.uk

In a second stage of consultation, interested parties are invited to send comments to OFTEL no later than 29th August 1997 on comments received in the first stage. Copies of the proposed modifications may be obtained from Duncan O'Neill at the above address (telephone 0171 634 8873).

procedure in section 73 of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990 (publicity for applications affecting Conservation Areas).

- (b) Anyone wishing to demolish a building or a part of a building within the Conservation area must, (subject to certain exemptions), first apply for consent from the Local Planning Authority.
