Lisbon, September 18.

ON the 12th Instant came into this Port, the British Men of War, Bideford Captain Rowley Commander, and Sheerness Captain Delgarne Commander, both from Gibraltar: And on the 15th arrived the Experiment, a British Man of War, Captain Hook Commander, in 16 Days from Plymouth. To-morrow, the Experiment, in Company with the Bideford, sails from hence to join Admiral Cornwall.

Brussels, Sept. 27. Two Battallions of the Regiments of the Great Master of the Teutonic Order and of Holstein, are arrived here from Ruremonde and Dendermonde, and are encamped in the Park, with the other Troops which compose the Garrison of this Place. Orders are given for their observing exact Discipline; and 'tis not doubted that all such Disorders as have of late been committed by the Populace, among whom Strangers and Vagabonds used to mingle on those Occasions, will for the future be prevented. The Nations (as they are called) or Trading Companies of this Town, have at last consented to an Excise on Beer sold by Retail, conformably to the Resolution of the great Council. It having been discovered, that several Soldiers mixed with the Rabble in the late Tumults, and that some of them to escape the Punishment they deserve have taken Sanctuary in the Monasteries, an Order has been published for taking them from thence, in Consequence of a Permission obtained from the Pope, pursuant to a Decree of the Congregation of Immunity, which will remain in Force a Year longer. On the 25th the Marquess de Prié caused Te Deum to be sung with great Pomp and Solemnity, for the Empress's being safe delivered of an Archduchess the 14th Instant.

Brussels, Oct. 1. To Day the Marquess de Prié's Baggage was imbarked for the Hague, whither he will be going by the 5th Instant at furthest, accompanied by his Son the Marquess de Pancallier.

Paris, Sept. 30. On the 26th Instant, an extraordinary Assembly of the Faculty of Theology, or Doctors of the Sorbonne, was held in the great Hall of that Collegé. M. Chaudiere; their Dean, acquainted them, that the Cardinal de Noailles having published his Appeal from the Pope's Constitution Unigenitus to a General Council; the Chapter of the Metropolitan Church of Paris, and the Curez (or Parish-Priests) of Paris, had adhered to that Appeal: And that he would make four Propositions to them on this Subject. 1. That the Faculty should renew and confirm in all Points, their Adherence to the Appeal made the 1st of March 1717, by the Bishops of Mirepoix, Senecy, Montpellier, and Boulogne. 2. That the Faculty, to leave to Posterity an eternal Monument of their profound Veneration for the Cardinal de Noailles, should record in their Registers his Eminency's Appeal made the 3d of April 1717, and published the 24th of September 1718; without derogating thereby from their Adherence to the Appeal of the four Bishops above-named. 3. That the twelve eldest Doctors should be deputed, to congratulate his Eminency, in the Name of the Faculty, on his Zeal and Firmness in supporting constantly the Faith, Religion, the Church and its sacred Liberties; and to assure him that they will be always ready to concur with him at all Times in their Defence. 4. That Deputies should be nominated, to look to the Registering of the Appeal of the Faculty, in the Officiality, the University, and the Parliament: And that the said Deputies should be intrusted by the Faculty, in their Name to maintain and assert their Rights, as well by Writings as by legal Proceedings, against all Adversaries whatsoever. Of one Hundred and Ten Doctors, all but Two approved every one of the said Propositions. At Two in the Afternoon the Twelve Senior Doctors, accompanied by a great Number of the others, went in Coaches to the Archiepiscopal Palace, having at their Head M. Chaudiere, Dean of the Faculty. The Cardinal de Noailles, accompanied by several other Prelates, came to meet them at the Entrance of his Apartment: The Dean presented to him the Faculty's Act of Adherence to his Appeal, and made a Speech to him in the Name of his Brethren; to which his Eminency made a Reply to their intire Satisfaction. On the 27th, the
