Messini, July 22.

WE have Advice from Palermo, that the Transports having on Board the second Imbarcation of Spanish Troops, were sailed from Termini for Barcelona, under the Convoy of Captain Strickland. Captain Hobart, Commander of the Garland, with four Ships and eight Tartanes, having on Board 1300 Piemontese from Syracuse, sailed from hence Yesterday for Sardinia. In this Port is the Adventure, Captain Wood, from Smyrna, bound for Leghorn and England.

Naples, Aug. 2. We have received Letters from Palermo dated the 26th of last Month, which give an Account that the Transports which carried the first Imbarcation of the Spanish Troops, and landed them at Barcelona, were returned to Palermo that Day, and were taking on Board the third and last Imbarcation; so that we expect to hear in a few Days of the total Evacuation of that Island.

Stockholm, July 27. Last Night about Nine a-Clock the King returned to his Palace of Carlberg, from the Progress he lately took to the Copper and Silver Mines; and about 10 a-Clock this forenoon his Majesty came to Council here in Town, where Adjutant General Marks made a Report of his Reception at Petersbourg, (whither he some time ago carried the Letters of Notification of his present Swedish Majesty's Accession to the Crown) and delivered at the same time the Letters he brought in Answer thereto from the Czar. They are said to contain congratulatory Compliments and general Professions of the Czar's desire of Peace. After the Council broke up his Majesty received the Compliments of all the Foreign Ministers upon his late Return, and then went to dine with the Queen at Carlberg. On the 22d Instant the Men of War sailed from the Dahlers.

Berlin, Aug. 13. The King of Prussia who arrived here on the 10th Instant, set out this Morning for Potsdam, where he designs to continue till he undertakes the Journey to Hanover. Yesterday about Ten in the Morning, a very dismal Accident happened here: As some Soldiers were removing a Magazine of Powder, which lay in a Tower at one of the Gates of the Town, it took Fire, and blew up the Tower. There are near 200 Persons killed or wounded, amongst the first are 84 Children, who being in a School hard by, were all destroyed, together with the Master. Several Houses in the Neighbourhood have been very much damaged, and the Loss on this Occasion is very great. M. Mardefeldt in his Letters which came in this Morning from Petersbourg gives an Account, that the Courier who had been sent from hence on the 19th past, with Orders to renew the Offer of his Britannick Majesty's Mediation to the Czar, jointly with that of the King of Prussia, was arrived there, and that he had communicated the Contents of his Dispatches to his Czarish Majesty (who was just taking Coach to go to Finland, to put that Province into a Posture of Defence, on Advice that the Swedes intended to make a Descent) who thereupon named Messieurs Schaffiroff and Tolstoy, to receive and examine in his Absence the Proposals he, M. Mardefeldt, was empowered to make to him. He adds, that on the Czar's Return to Petersbourg, which would be in a Fortnight, he should have his final Resolution. P. S. The King of Prussia sets out To-Morrow Morning for Hanover.
