Constantinople, October 21.

THE Venetian Bailo has made up the Difference with the Port about the Dulcignot Vessel, and a Courier is sent away with an Account of it to the Senate. The Turkish Ambassadour is returned hither from France, having been brought back by two French Men of War of 60 and 40 Guns, commanded by Mess. de Camilly and de Nangis. The French Ambassadour having presented those Captains to the Vizier, he gave them Presents of Handkerchiefs and Vests. They will be going hence in about Ten Days, and design in their Way to touch at several Ports in the Levant, having on board a Director of Commerce of their Nation, who is to enquire into and regulate such Abuses in Trade as he shall discover at any of those Places, according to the Custom practised by the French once in three Years. The Muscovite Resident M. Neplevit a Sea Officer, who lately came hither, was carried by the Envoy to his Audience of the Grand Signior four Days ago, at which the Ratifications of the new Treaty between the Port and the Czar were exchanged, and the Envoy took his Leave in order to return Home, leaving the other to reside here. M. Dirling who was Secretary of the Embassy to Count Virmont, and has continued here ever since his Departure with that Title, is lately declared the Emperour's Resident, and is preparing to take his Audiences of the Vizier and Grand Signior with that Character. The Grand Signior's Fleet of Ships and Gallies is lately returned from the Archipelago, but have brought in no Malteze Prizes as they generally used to do.

Stockholm, Nov. 8. On the 2d Instant Advice came of M. Campredon's Arrival at Petersbourg, and that as soon as the Frost sets in the Czar intends to make a Tour to Moscow with his whole Court. The last Letters from Abo brought an Account of the safe Arrival of most of the Troops lately ordered thither. It was last Week finally determined what Regiments shall be broke; but the College of War hath not yet thought fit to declare which they are, though it is said it will be made publick some time this Week. An Express brought News last Week from Jon-Kopping, that Field-Marshal Count Morner died there on the 30th past.

Madrid, Nov. 17. On the 12th Instant arrived an Express, with an Account of the Duke of St. Simon's Arrival
