Paris, June 13, N.S. The following Extract of the Advices received by the Court relating to the Plague, has been communicated to the foreign Mi-

M. de Bernage in his Letter of the 29th of May writes, that all Languedoc continues in a good State of Health, there remained but two fi.k at Alais, who had lain a long Time but were in a way of Recovery. Intermitting Fevers had for some Days been pretty rife in that City, which in the Opinion of Physicians denotes the contagious Distemper to be ceasing. M. de Rothe in his of the 29th of May receafing. M. de Rothe in his of the 29th of May relates, that for feveral Days none had died or fallen fick of the Contagion in all the infected Parts of the Country; there were only feveral common Difference. pers. However, the Precautions were continued for preventing the Accidents which might happen by the Heats. He had raifed the Blockade of Salindres, where all the Quarantains and the Difinfection had been finished two Months before. Cornillon was likewise free from all Suspicion of the Plague. A young Wo-man who had been ill at Colias was cured, having had only an ordinary Tumour. The Duke de Roquelaure in his of the 29th of May, sends the same Accounts of the good State of Health in Languedoc.

Provence. The Marquess de Brancas writes the 27th of May, that on the 25th of May three Persons died in the Hospital at Marseilles and seven sell sick, of whom one belonged to the City, three to its Ter-ritory, and three were of the Number of those under Quarantain. The 26th fix died in the Hospital and tour fell sick. He was well satisfied with the Rules observed to prevent as much as possible the spreading of the Distemper there. M. le Bret in his of the 27th of May gives the same Account of Marseilles; he was inclined to think it might not be the Plague because it made so little Progress, however all Vigilance and

The Comment. Commissary Ruet writes the 29th of May, that the 21st there was but one taken sick at Orange, and none the 22d and 23d. At Avignon ten died and 13 fell sick on the 23d, and three fell sick handles.
