Turin, April 12, N. S.

Cardinal Polignac, who had been detained some Days at Lyons by a Fever, arrived here Yesterday, and was treated at Dinner by the Count de Vernon; after which he had the Honour of a private Audience of their Sardinian Majesties; and being still indisposed, he did not proceed on his Journey till this Morning. Two Days ago a Detachment of about 80 Slaves were sent from this Citadal under a Guard to Villafanca di Nizza, in order to recruit the Gang in the Gallies which are getting ready to embark the Forces for Sardinia. The Marquess de Suza has received his last Orders, and is preparing to set out for that Island in three or four Days. All his Sardinian Majesty's Regiments are commanded to hold themselves in a readiness to change their Quarters. The Princess Louisa is entirely recovered, and begins to take the Air.

Cambray, April 22, N. S. The Regulations to be observed by the Ministers in the Congress, and for preventing any Disorders among their numerous Retinues, having been finally adjusted and settled, and printed here in Latin and French, His Britannick Majesty's Ministers and those of the most Christian King, as Mediators, sent the Secretaries of the two respective Embassies with Copies thereof to the other Plenipotentiaries. On the 21st the Secretaries of all the Plenipotentiaries were sent to the Town-House, to collate the Copies of their respective full Powers, which being found perfect, and attested by the Mediators, all the Ministers Plenipotentiaries met that Day for the first Time in Form at the Chamber in the Town House appointed for the General Conferences, and mutually exchanged Copies of their full Powers. They sat at a round Table, without any Manner of Precedency or Distinction, according to the forementioned Regulations. And after the Exchanging of the full Powers, it was declared by all the Ministers present, that they would not take upon them the Characters of Ambassadors Extraordinary, till at the Signing of the several Treaties which are here negotiating, by which divers Points of the Ceremonial that might obstruct and retard the Negotiation will be avoided. It was also agreed, that they should meet ordinarily on Tuesday and Friday in every Week; but when any particular Business required it, to meet any other Day.
