Madrid, August 28, N. S.

IS Catholick Majesty is now in the Seventh Day of his Illness of the Small-Instant from Paris. The Marquess de Caylus, who was fent last Year to Galicia as Captain German is recalled hither. The neral of that Kingdom, is recalled hither. The Abbot de Livry, his most Christian Majesty's Ambassadour to the King of Portugal, proceeded from hence to Day on his Journey for Lisbon.

Chambery, Aug. 30, N.S. On the 18th the Princess of Piedmont arrived at Morges in the Païs de Vaux on the North Side of the Lake of Geneva, where was a Concourse of some Thousands of Gentry and Common People from all Parts of Switzerland to fee her Highness. On the 19th she embark'd on Board a very handsome Brigantine provided by the Regency of Berne, with five others for her Retinue, and set Sail for Thonon; but the Wind proving contrary and boisterous, her Highness was forced to return to Morges after about an Hour's Navigation On Sunday Morning the 20th, the Weather proving fair, her Highness's Brigantine put out 2gain; and the Prince of Piedmont perceiving by the Firing of the Cannon the Time of her Departure, immediately fet out with two Brigantines to meet her. As foon as the Brigantines joined, his Royal Highness went on Board the Princess's with three Gentlemen only, and conducted her fafe to the Savoy Shore. The fame Night the Marriage was confirmed by the Bishop of Anne-cy, and confummated. The Court remained at Thonon all Monday, and next Day came forward towards Annecy, where they arrived on Wednef-day, and stayed Thursday and Friday: On Satur-day they dined at the Castle of Greysy, within half a League of Air and at Night made their half a League of Aix, and at Night made their Entry into Chambery, which has been illumina-ted for three Nights successively. The Senate and Magistracy paid their Respects on Sunday, and all the Nobility of both Sexes the Day following. Her Royal Highness was Yesterday indisposed His Sardinian Majesty does not intend to begin his Journey for Turin till the excessive Heats be over: They will last probably to the Middle ver: I hey will last probably to the Middle of September, when the Autumn Rains usually fall. Every thing is excessive dear and scarce at Chambery, the Concourse of People being very great, and the Country not abounding in Provisions. The Court appear'd for three Days in great Splendour, but the Mourning is now resumed for Madame Royale, and will last till the first Week in March first Week in March.

Turin, Aug. 30, N. S. The 27th Instant being the Queen's Birth-Day, most of the Nobility went to Rivoli to pay their Compliments to her Ma-jesty: The Cannon of the Citadel were dis-charged, and a Battallion of each of the Regiments of Fusiliers and Montferrat were upon that Occasion under Arms on the Place Royale, and here till the 20th of next Month. The Summer has been hotter here than has been known thefe many Years; the Heats still continue very volent, so that the Country suffers extreamly for want of Rain.
