Nver the Offering to the Sovereign, came from his Banner with the ufual Reverences and went a little behind His Majelly on the Right Hand.

When the Sovereign came against the Tenth Stall on the Prince's Side, wherein the Duke of Grafton, Lord Chamberlain of the Heuthold, was feated, the Duke in virtue of that Office attended on His Majelty a little behind on the Left Hand.

At the first Step to the Altar, the Sovereign made His Reverence to it, and another Reverence upon the uppermoft Step at the Rails, where the Sovereign kneeled, and the Uiher of the Black Rod having taken an Affay of the Offering deli-vered it on his Knees to the Duke of Dorfet, who, alfo kneeling, gave it to the Sovereign, who put it into the Bason held by the two Prebends flanding

The Sovereign arole, made His Reverence to the Altar, and the like again below the Steps, and was conducted back in the fame Manner ; the Lord Chamberlain in his Return, opposite to his own Stall, stopped under his own Banner, and the Sovereign being come to the Steps of His Stall again made His Reverence to the Altar, and being alcended into His Stall repeated the like Reverence, and fat down

The Attendants on the Sovereign made the like Reverences to the Altar, but no Obeifance to the Sovereign's Stall, because the Sovereign was in the Proceffion.

I he Duke of Dorfet who delivered the Offering to the Sovereign, returned to the Place under his Banner, where he made his double Obeifances.

During this Time, the Officers of the Ward-robe removed the upper rich Carpet and Cufhion, whereon the Sovereign kneeled, and the Usher of the Black Rod returned, making his double Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and stood before his Form.

Garter having then made his usual Obeisances, repaired towards His Royal Highnefs, who thereon moved from under his Banner, and made His double Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and Garter, going before, His Royal Highnefs at His Approach to the first Step of the Altar made His double Obeifances, and coming up to the Rails made His Reverence to the Altar only, and kneeling down, offered Gold and Silver into the Bafon, held as before; and then rifing made His Reverence to the Altar only, and at the loweft Step His double Reverences, and again in the Middle of the Choir, through which His Royal Highnefs was conducted to His Stall, which He entred, and having made His double Reverences in it, fat down.

Then two Heralds came down, and having made their double Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, went towards the elder Knight, and conducted him up to the Altar, where after the Offering made according to the former Manner, he was conducted with the like Obeifances, and proceeded on to his own Stall, where having made the like Reverences he fat down.

The fame Ceremonies were repeated to all the Knights Companions feverally, beginning still with the Seniors by Election into the Order, and where any Knight had his Companion they offered together.

The Knights being all thus refeated in their Stalls, and the Officers of the Order feated upon their Forms, Divine Service proceeded, which being ended, the two Prebends were conducted by the Verger to their Seats. The Poor Knights being near the Rails of the Altar and the Officers of Arms near them. Garter then fummoned down the Knights from their Stalls in the former Manner, beginning with the Juniors, who descended with the former Ce-remonies, and flood under their respective Banners.

The Officers of the Order stood before their Form.

Then the Poor Knights came down in a Body, and making their double Reverences, began the Procession out of the Chappel, the Puisne going foremost.

The Prebends came out of their Seats, and, performing the like Ceremonies, followed the Poor Knights.

Then the Knights having all made their Reverences proceeded out of the Choir in the fame Manner as they first entered into it. Then the Deputy to the Register, Gartef, and

Ulher of the Black Rod

Then His Royal Highness, having made His double Reverences.

The Sword of State, with the Vice-Chamberlain on the Left.

Then the Sovereign descended from His Stall, and having made His Reverence to the Altar, at the Bottom of the Steps, proceeded out of the Chappel.

And the Proceffion was in this Manner conti-nued to the Chapter-House, from whence the Knights and the Officers of the Order waited on the Sovereign to the Place where they first received him.
