A British Merchant Ship arrived Yesterday from Leghorn, with several Portuguese Passengers on board; and as they have deposed upon Oath, that there is no infectious Distemper in that City, the Secretary of State this Day assured the British Consul here, that Ships bound from that Port hither, should not be obliged to perform Quarantain here. on the 25th Instant. The same Day he sent Collonel Disney to acquaint Brigadier Dormer, the British Envoy Extraordinary, with his putting into this Port to water and get some Refreshments; and that having made the Royal Salute to the Fort, he had been answered Gun for Gun. Immediately the Envoy made a Visit to the Secretary of State, who the next Morning sent him Word that the King of Portugal would be glad to see Sir John Jennings, and accordingly had appointed an Audience that Evening. Sir John dined with the Envoy that Day, and went with him to the Audience attended by the Chief Officers under his Command. After the Admiral had made his Compliment, the Envoy took that Occasion to congratulate the King upon the Recovery of the Prince of Brazil who had some Days before been much indisposed. His Portuguese Majesty was graciously pleased to make a most obliging return to both the Compliments, adding he had given Orders that the Admiral should be furnished with every thing he wanted. The Envoy then presented the several Officers to his Portuguese Majesty, who received them in the most gracious Manner. Sir John Jennings intends to put again to Sea To-morrow.
