St. James's, March 141

HE following humble Addrels of the Chancellor, Masters and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, has been presented to His Majesty by the Reverend Dr. Gooch; Deputy Vice-Chancellor, attended by many of the Heads of Houses, Doctors, and other Members of that University; and accompanied by several Bishops and Deans of the faid University; introduced by his Grace the Duke of Grafton Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Houshold.

The humble Address of the Chancellor; Mafters and Scholars of the University of Cambridge.

May it pleafe your most Excellent Majesty,

WHILE our Fellow-Subjects are haftening from all Parts of the Kingdom to express their Concern and Zeal for your Majez fty's Perfon and Government, should We alone be filent, who were fo early, and have been so often distinguish'd by your particular Favour, the World might justly reproach us, and (which is less tolerable to ingenuous Minds) we should certainly reproach ourfelves.

we thould certainly reproach ourfelves: Tho' it is not poffible for us to forget your Majefty's repeated Favours to this University, whenever we have the Horlour to appear in your Royal Prefence, yet we come not now to acknowledge private Kindnesses done to ourfelves, but to pay our just Tribute of Thanks for far more extended Benefits actruing to the whole Kingdom through the Wildom of your Majefty's Counfels:

Wildom of your Majefty's Counlels: We fiand before our Patron and our King, greatly indebted, and highly fenfible of our Obligations in both Views; but as the Liberty which we enjoy as Englishmen; and the Religion which we profess as Protestants, are of all earthly Bleisings the greatest, and without which all others would soon become vain and infignificant; 'tis to your Royal Care and Vigilance over these common Bleisings, in which every Briton has a Share; that we come now to pay an Acknowledged ment; of which our Hearts are full; and which we feel far more sensibly than we can express.

We need far more femiloly than we can express. When we fee your Majefty threatned with the Dangers of a foreign War, and Princes once highly indebted to your Majefty and your People confipring to invade your Kingdoms; and yet no Injuffice; no Breach of Faith laid to your Majefty's Charge, nothing demanded of you that can be granted without a manifeft Violation of the juft Rights of our Country; what can we think, but that your Majefty is molefted for being, and refolving to be the Father of your Country; for refuling to facrifice the Rights of your People to the Eafe and Tranquility of your own Time? Narrow fipritted Princes may be willing to compound with Dangers; and to thift off prefent Evils, leaving them a certain and increasing Burden to Posterity: But your Majefty has chosen the nobler, as well as the wifer Part; to meet the Danger; and to thew the ambitious Spirits which trouble the World; and think Force a fufficient Title to every thing within their Reach, that you are afraid of nothing but of doing Wrong; and are prepared and refolved to maintain your own and your Peoples Rights:

They who demand our Trade out of our Hands now, can only mean to put themselves and us in such a State; that they may fafely make larger Demands upon us at a more convenient Season. Could their Policy prevail, could they be to successful as to see themselves growing in Riches and Power; and this
