

Majesty, that if any restless Spirits should endeavour to deprive us of these invaluable Blessings, by sowing Jealousies, or raising groundless Fears in the Minds of your Majesty's People, as all such Attempts must be looked upon to have a View to a Popish Pretender, we shall be ready with our Lives and Fortunes to support your Majesty, and the Succession in your Royal House, against him and all his Adherents, and upon every other Occasion to manifest the Duty, Loyalty and Obedience that is so justly due from all your Subjects to the best of Kings.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Justices of the Peace, Aldermen, Sheriffs, Grand-Jury and other Gentlemen Inhabitants of the City of Kilkenny in Ireland, met together at the General Assizes held for the said City, the 24th of July 1727.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE humbly presume to lay hold on this first publick Occasion, of signifying to your sacred Majesty the real Concern with which we are all affected for the Loss of our late glorious Sovereign, to the Influences of whole most auspicious Reign we acknowledge to owe the greatest Blessings of a free and happy People, the Preservation and Settlement of our Religious and Civil Rights. And as nothing but your Majesty's speedy and peaceable Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors could secure and confirm these Blessings to us, so nothing beside that could dissipate the Fears and assuage the Sorrows of Hearts truly grateful and strictly loyal. It is but a just Offering we make of our Lives and Fortunes to your Majesty's Service, when we extend our Views to the numberless Blessings that must necessarily be derived on us from your Majesty's experienced Skill in good Government, from your powerful Alliances Abroad, (and what is the Joy and Pride of your Subjects) from the pure Prospect we have of an uninterrupted Succession in your Royal House. May your Majesty and your Royal Consort have a long and happy Reign over us; may you long defend the Faith and Liberty, the established Religion, and wholesome Laws, of these Nations; may all your Subjects be, as we are, zealously united for the Honour and Interest of your Government; and may the British Crown be worn in its brightest Lustre by your Royal Family to the latest Posterity.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Corporation of Clonmell, in the County of Tipperary.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs, Free Burgesses, and Commons of your Majesty's anent and loyal Corporation of Clonmell, beg Leave to pay this just Tribute of our hearty Concern and Sorrow for the Death of our late Sovereign your Royal Father, of glorious Memory; and at the same Time to acknowledge, with all due Thankfulness, the great Goodness of Divine Providence in having so amply supplied to us that Loss in your Royal Person, by placing your Majesty, to the universal Joy of your Subjects, on the Imperial Throne of your Ancestors.

We ask Leave, most Gracious Sovereign, with all Humility, to lay at your Royal Feet, as the first Fruits of our Duty, this our solemn and publick Profession; and to assure your Majesty of our chearful and ready Obedience, at the Hazard of our Lives and Fortunes, to support your Majesty's undoubted Right and Title to the Throne of your Sacred Majesty's illustrious Family.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Seneschal and Inhabitants of the Borough of Downpatrick, in the County of Downe and Kingdom of Ireland.

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Seneschal and Inhabitants of your ancient Borough of Downpatrick, do, with great Humility and Chearfulness, congratulate your Majesty on your happy Accession to the Throne of these Kingdoms.

The Loss of your Royal Father, our most excellent King, (whose Memory will ever be accounted Sacred among us) would have rendered us inconsolable, if we had not at the same Time the Comfort to know that he was succeeded by a Son, who inherits all the Virtues of his Person, as well as the Honours of his Crown; who has the Advantage of a long Experience in the Laws and Constitution of our Country, and whose well known Clemency, Resolution, and Vigilance, give us the joyful Assurance that he will adorn the Throne he sits on, and secure to his People a solid and lasting Happiness.

We cannot omit, upon this Occasion, to express the entire Satisfaction which fills our Hearts upon the Contemplation of those eminent Vertues which place our gracious Queen higher in the Esteem and Love of her People, than the most absolute and extended Dominion upon Earth could do: And we view, with a Pleasure that knows no Bounds, that Prospect of Happiness which your numerous and hopeful Issue give us, not only for ourselves but our latest Posterity.

The unanimous Consent and universal Acclamations of your People which accompanied your Majesty to the Throne, will undoubtedly disappoint the Designs of your Enemies, and clearly shew to all Mankind how false and groundless their Insinuations are, who may endeavour to persuade Foreign Powers to disturb your Majesty's Government by
