THE Turkish Aga, who has resided here some Time, had his Audience of Leave the 19th Instant of their Swedish Majesties. M. Lowen Gentleman of the Bedchamber to his Majesty, and Secretary Soldan, went about Eleven in the Forenoon to the Aga's Lodgings with four of his Majesty's Coaches, two of which were drawn by six Horses, and the other two by two Horses each, and conducted the Aga to Court in the following Manner. First rode two of his Majesty's Grooms, then followed the two Coaches with two Horses, wherein sat some of the Aga's Retinue, together with M. Savary the Interpreter; then were led two of his Majesty's Horses; afterwards rode the Aga's Marshal, followed by one of the Coaches and six, wherein sat the Aga himself; over-against him sat the Gentleman of the Bedchamber Lowen, and Secretary Soldan; then followed the other Coach with six Horses. On the Sides of the Aga's Coach went eight of his Majesty's Footmen, together with the Aga's Servants, and two Pages stood behind the Coachman. Upon the Plain before the Palace stood a Battalion of the Royal Guards ranged on both Sides up to the Palace Gate. On the Bridge leading to the Kidderholm was placed a Guard to keep off the Populace. Those in the two first Coaches alighted at the Palace Gate, but the Coach in which the Aga sat drove up to the Stairs in the Palace-Yard, where the Officers of the Guard upon Duty saluted the Aga. At the Bottom of the Stairs in the Palace-Yard the Aga was received (in the Absence of the Master of the Ceremonies) by the Gentleman of the Bedchamber and Introducer Cronstrom; but above at the Entrance into the Palace he was met by Baron von Duben Marshal of the Court, and other Gentlemen, who went before him into the first Hall, where those Gentlemen ranging themselves, the Aga and his Retinue passed between them into the Room of Audience, where his Majesty sat covered under a Canopy of State; their Excellencies the Senators of the Kingdom stood on each Side near His Majesty's Chair, and several General Officers, with other Persons of Distinction, were likewise in the Room of Audience, as well as in the other Hall through which the Aga passed. When the Aga approach'd his Majesty, he took his Leave by a short Speech, which was interpreted by the Interpreter Savary. This Speech was answered in his Majesty's Name by the Chancellor M. Von Kochen, which Answer was likewise interpreted to the Aga. Afterwards the Chancellor delivered his Majesty's Letter to the Turkish Emperour, which the Aga received with great Respect, and return'd his Thanks in the Turkish Language, which was again interpreted. After the Audience of his Majesty, the Aga was conducted to her Majesty the Queen, of whom he had likewise a gracious Audience of Leave. He then departed, and at going out was invited by the Marshal of the Court to partake of the Entertainment which the King had ordered to be prepared for him; and after Dinner he was presented with Coffee, Perfumes, and Tobacco, and both before and after Dinner Water was given him to wash himself with according to the Turkish Custom. When the Entertainment was over, the Aga was conducted back to his Lodgings with the same Ceremony, and his Marshal, who rode on Horseback; carried his Majesty's Letter to the Turkish Emperour before him, in the same Manner as he did a Year ago the said Emperour's Letter to his Majesty.

Stock-

Stockholm, Sept. 4. Last Monday the Turkish Aga left this Place, very well satisfied with the magnificent Presents and civil Treatment he met with during his Residence here.

WE the Grand Jury of the said City and County, think it our Duty upon this Occasion to take Notice, with the utmost Indignation and Abhorrence, of a scandalous and treasonable Paper lately published in our Streets, intituled, Mist's Weekly Journal, Number 175, Saturday, August 24, 1728. A Libel which must be detested by every British Subject that hath any Regard to our present happy Establishment in the Illustrious Protestant House of Hanover; an Establishment that alone can support and defend our Religious and Civil Rights. We therefore present the said Printed Paper as an infamous, seditious and treasonable Libel, highly reflecting on the Memory of his late Majesty, and upon the King our most gracious Sovereign, His Government and Administration, to great and publick a Blessing to his People; and it is our earnest Desire, that the Authors and Publishers of this vile, seditious and treasonable Libel, may be brought to condign Punishment.
