

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday September 26 to Sunday September 30. 1672.

Yarmouth, Sept. 25.

Yesterday we had advice here, that His Majesties Frigats, under the Command of Sir Edward Spragge, had taken 12 Dutch Doggers, as they were Fishing on these Coasts, and were in chace of several others; And by some persons who came along the Coast from Lyn, we are informed, that yesterday about four of the clock in the afternoon they saw nine Dutch Doggers taken off of Munsley, about 18 miles to the Northwards of this place; by the Boats of five of His Majesties Frigats, so that in all we reckon 21, that we as yet hear to have been taken.

Lisbonne, Aug. 30. The arrival of three Ships from the Indies hath occasioned much joy at this Court, and the rather, because we never before saw three so rich and considerable Ships come home together, and that at present we had expected but one; neither can we be less pleased, in that we now receive the confirmation of the news we gave you in our last, of the great victory we have lately obtained over the Moors at Angola, with these particulars: That the Portuguese having been some time since with several parties abroad to fetch in Slaves, they were fallen upon by the Moors, and almost all destroyed; which had so encouraged them, that they thought of nothing but the taking of Angola, and utterly to expel us from thence; to which end they came down with a very considerable force to bessege the Town, whereof the Governor having had notice, sent immediately to Brazile for succors of Horse and Foot, which being arrived, they made a sally upon the Moors with that success, as to kill and take prisoners at least 8000 of them, the King who was there in person, was killed, and his Brother and two Sons taken prisoners: and what makes this victory the more considerable, is, that by this means we have got great numbers of Slaves for our Sugar-works in Brazile, where they are much wanted. The Prince Regent is at present perfectly well again, since the hurt he received by a fall from his Horse.

Leghorn, Sept. 16. The 14 instant the Diligence, a Merchant man, coming from Tunis, foundered at Sea, almost within sight of this place, all the Men on board her, having been lost, excepting the Master, who was cast ashore, after having been 12 hours in the water, and recovered.

Danzick, Sept. 17. The report still continues of the surrender of Caminio on the 27 of the last month, after having been stormed severen times by the Turks, with the loss of a great many of their Men, and might doubtless have been able to have held out against all the Force that could have been brought against it; had they not been reduced to so great a want of all kind of Provisions, that they were not able any longer to subsist, and so were forced to yield the place, the loss of which is of so great consequence to Poland, that we are yet unwilling to believe it, till a farther confirmation. Here are some Letters in Town from Limberg, which say that they had advice there, that the Plague was got into the Turkish Army, and had made great havock amongst them, which it was hoped would give a stop to their farther progress, and oblige them to leave the Field. The King is still at Fanowisz, though there is some discourse of his sudden return to Warsaw.

Vienna, Sept. 17. The Rebels in Hungary begin now to shew themselves again, and seem to be in a condition to occasion new disturbances in that Kingdom, for though the news of their having taken the Fortress Galo, is not confirmed, yet it is very certain, that they have plundered and ruined the Countrey thereabouts; and that General Spanham finding himself too weak with the Forces he had drawn out of the neighbouring Garrisons, to make head against them, was retired with the said Forces to Frikau, to expect there a reinforcement from hence, which the Emperor hath resolved shall be sent him with all the speed that may; Yesterday arrived a Turkish Envoye, having about 30 persons in his Train, but having not as yet had Audience, we cannot tell the particulars of his errand. In the mean time our Letters from Poland bring still worse and worse news, our last telling us, That the Turks having made themselves masters of Caminiec, the only place of strength in those parts, had overrun the whole Ukrain; and that the Grand Signior would doubtless make use of the advantage, and proceed with all his Force towards Poland, where he cannot at present find any great opposition.

Genova, Sept. 19. On Wednesday last the Cardinal Raggi had Audience of the Senate, whither he was conducted with much ceremony, to offer the Mediation of the Court of Rome for the reconciling the differences between them and Savoy; what answer he then received, we cannot certainly tell, farther, then that it is said, the Senate assured him, they very readily accepted of his Holiness Mediation, and that they should not be wanting on their part to do anything that might promote a just and honourable Peace; we likewise expect here the Prince Triulzio from Milan on the same account, so that we hope by the interposition of the several Princes who have already offered their Mediation, things may be suddenly brought to a fair conclusion.

Ditto, Sept. 21. This week we were alarmed here with the news of the Savoyards being entered into the Territory of this State, with a flying Army of 3500 Men, whereupon all our Fortes were immediately ordered to march towards the Confines, where this State may now have together about 10000 Foot, under the Command of the Marquis Serra.

Leeuwen, three miles from Brunswick, Sept. 23. Yesterday arrived here 6000 Horse and 4000 Foot of the Brandenburgh Troops, with a Train of Artillery; to morrow they will break up again from hence, and advance three miles, and so proceed on their march towards the Wefer. Yesterday Count Montecuculi left the Brandenburgh Courts, and went towards the Imperial Army, in order to the causing them to march to the place appointed for the conjunction. From the Graefship vander Marck, our Letters tell us, that Monsieur Turenne continues with