

nable and willing Obedience of a free People. This is the invaluable Privilege of Subjects of Great Britain, of which we are deservedly so tenacious for ourselves and our Posterity; and which we are persuaded is more acceptable to your Majesty, who delights to be called the Father of your Country, than the forced and abject Submission of Slaves and Vassals.

We shall sincerely joyn our Prayers and Wishes to the universal Desires of our Fellow Subjects, that your Sacred Majesty, and our gracious Queen, whom God preserve, may long enjoy the Satisfaction of this august Alliance; and that the illustrious Pair may have an uninterrupted Series of all Kinds of Felicity themselves, and may become the Authors of a glorious Progeny, emulous of the Virtues of their great Ancestors, to be the Assertors of Liberty, and consequently the Favourites of Mankind,

These are the hearty Prayers of,
 May it please your Majesty,
 Your Majesty's most humble, most dutiful, and most obedient Subjects and Servants.

Whereas several Persons who have Titles of Honour in Ireland, have resided in Great Britain for some Years past, and others who have not been in this Kingdom since the Revolution in 1689, and several whose Irish Honours are descended on them from their Ancestors, have never been in this Kingdom, by which Means it is impossible for me to know when any of such Honours happen to be Extinct, or to keep an exact Roll of the Peers of Ireland: I therefore hereby desire all Peers of Great Britain that have Irish Honours, as also all other Peers of Ireland residing in Great Britain, with all convenient Speed by their Letter directed to me, at my Office in Dublin, to signify to me their Claim to such Irish Honours as they have a Title to, together with their Christian Name; and if any are Minors, that their Guardian will do the like, together with the Age of such Minor; and in Case any Person neglect or refuse to do themselves this Justice, I shall thereby be induced to deem such Honours Extinct, and consequently leave them out of the List of Irish Peers for the future. Dated at Dublin, the 21st Day of March 1733.

Wm. Hawkins, Ulster King of Arms of all Ireland.
