And to Sixteen private Bills.

After which, His Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious Speech.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Give you my hearty Thanks for the great Difpatch you have given to the publick Bufinels, and for the Confidence you have repofed in me for the Honour and Security of my Kingdom; fo fhort a Seffion, at fo critical and important a Conjuncture, concluded with fo much Unanimity, and fo juft a Regard for the true Interest of the Nation; will give great Weight and Credit to all our publick Tranfactions, and procure that Respect and Dependance upon the great Council of this Nation, which are fo neceflary to fupport the Honour and Interest of Great Britain both at Home and Abroad.

Gentlemen of the Houle of Commons,

I must acknowledge in a particulat Manner, the Zeal and Readines, which you have shewn, in raising, in so effectual a Manner, the necessary Supplies for the Service of the Year; the Provision you have made for paying off great Part of the Debt of the Navy, a Debt, necessary and unavoidably incurred, and carrying a higher Interest than the old national Debt, and which being at a Discount, increased the Charge and Expence, in all Contracts of the Navy and Victualling, must certainly be thought of service to the Publick.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The Time limited for the Expiration of this Parliament drawing near, I have refolved forthwith to iffue my Proclamation for the diffolving of it, and for calling a new Parliament, that the Inconveniencies unavoidably<sup>3</sup> attending a general Election may be put an End to as foon as poffible; but I fhould think my felf inexcufable, if I parted with this Parliament, without doing them the Juffice, to acknowledge the many fignal Proofs they have given, through the Courfe of Seven Years, of their Duty, Fidelity and Attachment to my Perfon and Government, and their conftant Regard to the true Intereft of their Country.

The Proferity and Glory of my Reign depend upon the Affection and Happinels of my People, and the Happinels of my People upon my preferving to them all their legal Rights and Privileges, as effablished under the prefent Settlement of the Crown in the Protestant Line; a due Execution and strict Obfervance of the Laws are the best and only Security both to Sovereign and Subject; their Interest is mutual and infeparable, and therefore their Endeavours for the Support of each other ought to be equal and reciprocal; any Infringement or Incroachment upon the Rights of either, is a Diminution of the Strength of both, which kept within their due
