D U B L I N.

To his Grace Lionel, Duke of Dorset, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland.

The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled. Presented to his Grace on the 24th of March.

May it please your Grace,

WE the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, beg Leave, before a Period is put to this Session, to congratulate your Grace upon the remarkable Unanimity and Temper with which it has been carried on, and the happy Conclusion to which it now approaches; which we doubt not will be as agreeable to his Majesty, as it is beneficial to his faithful People.

We should not deserve this Happiness, if we did not with the sincerest Gratitude acknowledge it to be owing to the steady Wisdom and Justice of your Grace's Administration; through the whole Course of which you have shewn, that you had no other Views than his Majesty's Service, and the real Interest of this Kingdom. So disinterested, so just and prudent a Conduct, could not but produce that universal Esteem and Affection for your Grace, which this whole Nation upon every Occasion expresses.

The Benefits which by your Grace's Influence have been derived to us, from his Majesty's Royal Goodness, are so many and so known, that it would be as needless as it is difficult to enumerate them; but we cannot omit returning our particular Thanks to your Grace, for the late eminent Instance of Royal Favour which you have obtained for us, whereby private Property is more effectually secured, and the Laws become a more certain Rule by which every Man's Right may be determined.

It will ever distinguish your Grace's Government, that from the Beginning of it we have seen the reasonable and just Demands of the Crown, always answered by the most cheerful and ready Compliance of the People; and in Return, the most gracious Concessions made to the People, of whatever they judged necessary to secure and increase their Welfare and Happiness. You my Lord, who are so happy as to be employed in conveying these mutual Advantages, have a Right to, and can never fail of that Reward, which your Grace (like other great Benefactors of Mankind) seems to have most in View; to be beloved and respected by the present Age, and remembered with Honour by Posterity.

We must ever acknowledge his Majesty could not have given us a more desirable Proof of his gracious Acceptance of our Duty and Loyalty to his sacred Person, and of our inviolable Zeal and Attachment to his Royal House, than by continuing your Grace in the Government of this Kingdom; the Interest of which, you have in so distinguished Manner promoted. And we firmly rely upon your Grace's Goodness, that when you return to his Royal Presence, you will make such Representations of the steady Loyalty and Affection of his Subjects of Ireland, as may incline his Majesty to think us not unworthy of the Continuance of his Royal Favour and Protection.

To which Address his Grace was pleased to give this Answer.

My Lords,

THIS very kind Address is a convincing Proof, that a Zeal for his Majesty's Service, and the Good of his People, can never fail of gaining your Esteem. I shall never forget this publick Mark of your Approbation, which I consider not only as Honour done me, but a lasting Obligation laid upon me, to promote the Welfare of this Kingdom to the utmost of my Power.
