Copenhagen, March 2, N. S.

ADmiral Bille has so far incurred the Displeasure of his Danish Majesty, as to be discharged from having any thing more to do in the Service of the Navy. The King, however is pleased to let him keep his Rank and Title of Admiral, together with a small Pension, which he has received since he was removed from the Inspection of the Holm. The Queen of Denmark is at present indisposed with a Cold, so as to occasion the putting off a Design the Court had of passing a few Days at Friedensburg. The Margravine is pretty well recovered, but does not appear yet in publick. M. von John, late his Danish Majesty's Envoy to the Court of Great Britain, set out from hence on the 22d past for his new Residence at Hambourg.

Dublin, March 1.

This being her Majesty's Birth-day, the Great Guns were fired at the Barracks, and answered by Volleys from the Regiments in Garrison, which were drawn out upon Oxmantown-Green: At Noon the Lords Justices met at the Castle and received the Compliments of the Nobility and other Persons of Distinction; before whom an Ode set to Musick was performed. At Night there was a Play given by their Excellencies for the Entertainment of the Ladies; and there were Bonfires, Illuminations, and all other usual Demonstrations of Joy.

Whitehall, February 17, 1736-7.
Whereas on Saturday the 26th of October last, about Ten o'Clock at Night, at a place called Elms Gate, in the Parish of Forson, in the County of Stafford, John Dearn, Blacksmith, of Leynton, in the said County, was assaulted by divers Persons unknown, one of whom seized his Horse by the Bridle, whilst another knocked him off his Horse, and, by the Assistance of the others, forcibly took from him Fifty Shillings; and beat and bruised him in so barbarous a Manner, that he has languished ever since, and is in great Danger of losing his Life, or the Use of his Limbs: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned in the said Assault and Robbery, is pleased to promise his most gracious Pardon to any one of the said Persons, who shall discover one or more of his Accomplices, so as he or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

HOLLES NEWCASTLE.

Whitehall, February 15, 1736-7.
Whereas an Anonymous Letter, dated February N. D. 1736-7, directed, To Mr. Manning, Cooper, at Execution Dock, Wapping, was received by the said Mr. Manning, requiring him to send Twenty Guineas to a Place therein mentioned, and threatening him, in Case of Refusal, with Death, and to set Fire to his House, Shop, and Yards: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned in so heinous a Crime, is pleased to promise his most gracious Pardon to any one of them, who shall discover his Accomplice or Accomplices, so as he or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

HOLLES NEWCASTLE.

And as a farther Encouragement, I do hereby promise to pay the further Sum of Twenty Pounds for the said Offender or Offenders, that shall be discovered and convicted as aforesaid.

Robert Manning.
