

Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and the Duke of Argyll, put it over his Lordship's Left Shoulder, who was then Kneeling, the Chancellor during that Time reading the Admonition enjoyned in that Case. And his Lordship having kissed the Sovereign's Hand, and thanked his Majesty for the great Honour done him, rose up and saluting all the Companions severally, who made their Congratulations, his Lordship then withdrew.

The Chancellor then declared his Majesty's Pleasure for filling the other vacant Stall; and whereas the Statutes forbid the Name of any Person to be put in the Scrutiny unless he hath actually received the Honour of Knighthood, Garter was commanded to bring in the Earl of Waldegrave, who being introduced between Garter and the Black Rod, kneeled down before the Sovereign, and being Knighted with the Sword of State, retired; and the Scrutiny being collected by the Chancellor, and delivered to the Sovereign in the former Manner, the Chancellor by the Sovereign's Command declared the Earl of Waldegrave duly elected, who being introduced and invested with the like Ceremonies, withdrew.

Garter then called over the Names of the Knights Companions, and thereon the Procession was made back to the Apartment next to his Majesty's Closet in the Manner before described.
