Stockholm, October 3.

THE King of Sweden is now so well, that his Appearance abroad is daily expected.

Warsaw, Oct. 11, N. S. A Subaltern Officer who is this Day arrived from the Russian Army, in which he has serv'd in this last Campaign as Volunteer, relates, that he left that Army on their Return in Volhinia.

Vienna, Oct. 15, N. S. By Letters from the Imperial Army of the 8th Instant it is advised, that a Lieutenant was sent on the 5th with 30 Men to take Possession of Semendria; but that having learnt in the Way that the Turks had already retaken Possession of that Place, he returned with his Men to Belgrade. The Turks had several Hundred Saicks with them at Semendria, and had likewise taken Possession of all the Ports which they had abandoned on the other Side of the Danube, excepting Panchova; to which last Place 400 Spahis came up on the 6th Instant, but retreated after some Skirmishes with the Imperial Hussars, tho' not without threatening to return speedily accompanied with Janissaries. Such great Rains have fallen as give hopes that the Turks will not be able to approach Sabatz with their Cannon. But they have brought some small Pieces of Artillery up to Raticha, and it is uncertain whether Baron Roth will be able to hold out long, tho' he has 900 Men there under his Command. Mean time, the Prince of Hildburghausen has had Orders sent him to march from Peterwaradin with the Saxons and Bavarians, joined to two Battalions of Imperialists, and five Regiments of Cavalry, in order to succour Raticha, but it was feared it would be too late. It was talk'd among the Officers at Semlin, that our main Army will continue there till the Campaign is ended, unless the Advices of a great Body of Turks gathering in the Bannat shall be so far confirm'd, as to make it necessary for the Imperialists to march thither at any rate; and in this last Case, it is thought they will take their Winter Quarters in the Bannat.
