

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday May 29. to Monday June 2. 1673.

Warsaw, May 12.

THe Envoy arrived here from Muscovy, had yesterday Audience of the King, at which time he delivered to him a Letter from the Czar his Master, consisting of five sheets of Parchment, in which that Prince at large declares, the inducement he has to enter into a War against the Turks, and that being resolved himself to march at the Head of a powerful Army against the common Enemy of Christendom, he hath declared his intentions to all the Princes thereof, that they may joyn with him, and particularly to this Crown, as well because of the ancient friendship and alliance between them, as the common interest they have to abate the power of the Turks; The answer the Envoy has as yet received is, that the King will consult with the Senate, concerning what the Czar has written and that he will in few days dispatch him with an ample answer to the same. In the mean time we seem not to be at present in so much danger of an Invasion by the Turks, as some Months since, the great reports of the Grand Vizers preparations beginning to lessen, and our Letters from the Port telling us, that he will not take the Field till towards Autumne. We are assured that an Ambassador is coming hither from the King of Persia, to propose likewise an Alliance ~~against the Persians~~ from Caminic we have advice, that there are at present onely 5000 Men, and that they are so far from any thoughts of invading us, that they greatly fear our Forces will draw that way, and make an attempt upon that place. The King has made his Cousin Duke Constantin Wisnowitsky, Palatine of Podolia, which Government was become voyd.

Vienna, May 21. All the General Officers of the Imperial Army are returned hither; on Tuesday last came to Town the Prince of Lorraine, as likewise the Count de Caprara, and this evening we expect here the Duke of Bourgoynville; by which it appears, how ill-grounded the reports of the Imperialists being returning towards the Rhine have been. The Envoy of the Czar of Muscovy is preparing for his departure, to morrow he will have his dispatches, and then begin his journey for Venice, from whence he is to pass on to Rome. Yesterday arrived here the Marquis de Grana from Cologne; and this day the Minister residing here on the part of the Elector of Brandenburgh, acquainted his Imperial Majesty with his Masters proceeding, in relation to his Treaty with the most Christian King, which hath much disturbed the Councils of this Court.

Genova, May 24. This State is sending an extraordinary Envoy to the most Christian King, on occasion of their Galley having been stopped and carried up to Marseilles, though it is said, that Monsieur Gaumont the French Minister here, has promised the Senate that the said Galley shall be forthwith restored; The Dutch Privateer the Dolphin, which hath occasioned all this, is at present seized by order of the Vice-Roy of Naples, in some Port of that Kingdom.

Hambrough, May 26. Our last advices from Stock-holm told us, that three Regiments, consisting each of 2000 Men, were Commanded to march forthwith for Gottenburgh, and there to embark for the River Elbe, where they are to land at Staad in the Dutchy of Bremen. Most of the Troops which have of late passed this way, and were said to be raised by Commission of the Swedes, are now said to have been upon account of the States, and that the Officers made use onely of this pretext, to raise their Men. We hear that the Cessation of Arms has been published in all the Territories of the Elector of Brandenburgh, with the French, the Elector of Cologne, and the Bishop of Munster, in pursuance of the Treaty lately concluded with them.

Cologne, May 30. The Duke of Chaulnes and Monsieur Courtin the French Plenipotentiaries for the Treaty of Peace, are at present at Breuil; on Sunday last their Excellencies came hither; but returned again in the Evening; It is said here, that on Friday next they will make their publick Entry into this place. From Coblenz they write, that 1500 Imperialists were arrived there and at Erberstejn, with intentions to continue in Garrison in those two places. We have advice, that 5000 French Horse have lately passed through the Countrey of Fuliers, towards their Conquests in the United Provinces. Monsieur de Turcne will now certainly remove in few days out of the County of Mark, and take his way towards the Countrey of Liege, where it is said, he is to joyn with such other Forces as shall come from Charleroy, in order to their attacking Maestricht, though there be some who report with much confidence, that he will march up towards Coblenz and Francfort, to secure the passage of the Moselle; however, a short time will now truly inform us.

From the French Camp at Gaure, May 30. Yesterday his Majesty, after having ordered the Duke of Orleans to re-pass the Vaert at Ghent, with the Troops under his Command, parted early in the Morning from Landerhamme, a League from Ghent; and having passed the Lis upon Bridges made of Boats at Duerle, between Ghent and St. Dennis, and afterwards L'Escaut near this place, Encamped here, which is a Principality of the Count d'Egmont. This Morning by break of day his Majesty removed from hence, with intentions to lodge at Buslebreck, and to march to morrow to Alost, which is about five or six Leagues from Brussels.

Brussels, June 3. We have not without a general disorder, seen the most Christian King with his Army within two or three Leagues from this place; yesterday his Majesty, after having quitted the Countrey of Alost, passed the Senne, which runs through this City, at Ruysbroeck, two Leagues from hence; it is said that his Majesty takes his way towards Haecht, between Malines and Aerschot, where he will pass the Demer, and continue his march towards the Territories of the States General: the march of these Troops has extremely ruined the Countrey. The Count de Monteroey is at present at Antwerp, where it is thought he will continue till the French are removed out of our Territories, which we now hope to see in a day or two.

Hague, June 3. As yet the Enemy hath not attacked any of our Places, which some attribute to the disposition of the Prince of Conde, who hath been much troubled with the Gout, but we say here, that