God save the King,

St. James's, March 20.

This Day was held a Chapter of the most noble Order of the Garter; the Knights Companions in or near London (being summoned by the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Salisbury, Chancellor of the Order) appeared in their Mantles, and being called over by Garter, proceeded from the Sovereign's Closet to the old Council Chamber, attended by the Officers of the Order in the following Manner, the Juniors first.

Duke of Devonshire.	Earl of Wilmington.
Duke of Richmond.	Sir Robert Walpole.
Duke of Rutland.
Duke of Grafton.	Duke of Bolton.
Duke of Montagu.	Duke of Newcastle.
Duke of Dorset.

His Royal Highness William Duke of Cumberland.

Garter.	Register.	Black Rod.
	Chancellor.

SOVEREIGN.

The Sovereign having seated himself, and commanded the Knights Companions to seat themselves, the Chancellor declared that the Reason of calling this Chapter was, to fill the five Stalls vacant by the Deaths of the Dukes of Kent and Roxburgh, the Earls of Strafford and Scarborough, and the Viscount Townshend, and that it was the Sovereign's Pleasure they should be supplied at this Time.

Then the Knights Companions proceeded to a Scrutiny, which being collected by the Chancellor, and presented by him on his Knee to the Sovereign, the Chancellor, by the Sovereign's Command declared the most Serene Prince Frederick of Hesse Cassel duly elected.

Then the Knights Companions proceeded to another Scrutiny, which being collected and presented as above, the Chancellor declared the Duke of St. Albans (who had received the Dignity of Knighthood when he was created Knight of the Bath) duly elected.

Upon which Garter, and the Black Rod brought his Grace (who was received at the Chapter Door by the Earls of Wilmington and Essex, the two youngest Knights present) to the Sovereign, Garter carrying before them on a Crimson Velvet Cushion, the Garter and a Gold George hung in a blue Ribbon.

Then Garter on his Knee presented the Garter to the Sovereign, who delivered it to the two Senior Knights, who buckled it about his left Leg, the Chancellor reading the Admonition.

Then Garter in like Manner presented the blue Ribbon and George, which his Majesty put over his left Shoulder, athwart under his right Arm, the Chancellor reading the Admonition.

Garter was then commanded to bring in the Duke of Marlborough, who on his Knees received the Honour of Knighthood; and the Knights proceeding to another Scrutiny, the Chancellor declared the said Duke duly elected; whereupon he received the Garter and George in like Manner as the Duke of St. Alban's had before.

After which the Duke of Kingston was knighted, elected, and received the said Ensigns of the Order in like Manner.

And the same Ceremonies were observed in the Election of the Duke of Portland.

Which being ended, and the Knights Companions being again called over by Garter, the Sovereign proceeded back in the same Manner he came, and so the Ceremony ended.
