

here Tomorrow, on his Return from Silesia to Berlin, being charged with a Letter from his Master to his Polish Majesty: 'Tis thought his Stay here will be but short, his Prussian Majesty having been at Berlin ever since the 10th Instant. When Count Lynar had his Audience of Leave of the Regent of Russia, she said, that as the King of Poland had honoured many of the Czar's Subjects with the Order of the White Eagle, she desired that his Polish Majesty would confer that of St. Andrew on any one of his own Subjects; accordingly M. Rex of the Privy Council was invested with the same. M. d'Utterodt has passed by here for Dresden, the Time of his Return to England being yet unsettled. M. Valori, the French Minister at the Court of Prussia, arrived here from Breslaw on the 14th Instant, and intended to pursue his Journey the next Morning to Berlin; but being informed that Marshal Belleisle was soon expected here, he proposes to stay till his Arrival, which it is thought will be in a very few Days. Soon after General Renard, who had been ordered to march with his Column of near 5000 Men along the other Side of the Elbe as a Convoy to the Barges sent with Artillery from Dresden for the Siege of Prague, and the Use of the French, had taken up his Quarters at Leuthmeritz; Prince Leopold of Dessau sent a Battallion of Prussians thither, which he refused to admit into the Place. The Light Horse from Poland is now arrived in Lusatia, and are to remain in those Countries to help to defend them against any Incursions of the Austrian Hussars.
