Tarmouth, Aug. 18.

He 14 instant His Majesties Fleet under the Command of his Highness Prince Rupert, were about 20 Leagues off of this place, P., and by S. and as is said; would continue there two or three days.

Here are come ashoar a Master of a small Vessel with his Ships Company, who were lately taken by a Dutch Fregat of 30 Guns, they were carried into the Enemies Fleet, and were on Board Lieutenant Admiral de Ruyter since the Fight; they report, that several of their Ships are extremly torn, and that they themselves confess, they lost in the late Engagement three Men of War.

Warfam, Aug. 5. We continue to live here in the greatest uncertainty imaginable, as to the posture of affairs abroad, the advices we receive from the Port varying every week in that manner, that we know nor what we are to believe; one while they aftire us that the Grand Signior is peremptorily refolved to employ his Arms against this Kingdom, to oblige us, as he pretends, to make good the Treaty concluded the last Summer, and particularly that Article, which stiffurates a yearly fun of Money to be paid him by way of Tri-bute, and that accordingly he is ready to march at the head of a powerful Army; another while it is faid, that the Grand Vizier will have the Care and Conduct of the War left to him, which will not be profecuted with any great vigor, his intention being to come only with 40 or 50000 Men to Allarm us, and keep us from attempting any thing on Caminicc, or those other places which the Turks gained the last year; but now we have Letters which tell us, that the Grand Signior has changed his resolution, and will be willing to continue the Peace with this Crown, if we give him not farther occasion to break it; and to confirm this, they write from the Frontiers, that the Grand Vizier, who we faid in our last, was passed the Danube, is marched back again, having onely fent two thousand Men to Checimsto joyn with the Forces that are already there, for the fecurity of those parts. In the mean time we continue our preparations, and intend to muster 30000 Men on the Frontiers of Ruscia, about the latter end of this month. The 15 instant the King intends to begin his journey thither. Here is arrived another Envoye from the Czar of Moscovy, with offers of affiftance against the Port.

Hambrough, Aug. 11: From Copenhagen they write, that the Treaty which was not long fince concluded between that Crown and the States General of the United Provinces, hath met of late with some disticulty, insomuch, that the Ratification of it hath been hitherto deserved; the Dutch did sormerly speak much of this Treaty, and of the great assistance they were by vertue of it, to receive from that Crown; But our Letters from that Court mention no such thing, and say that this Treaty is no way contrary to any that Crown had with his most Christian Majesty, or any other Prince Engaged in the present War against the Dutch. From Engaged in the present War against the Dutch. From Engagen they write, that his Majesty had begun his progress, in which he intended to spend two Months or six weeks, and that the 12 of this Month he was expected at Lunden in the Province of Schonen. The Grand Constable Wrangel remains very much indisposed at Stockholme, his intention being to pass aver into Pomerania, (of which Country he is Governor) so soon as his health will permit him. The Sieur d'Amerongen having been to confer with the Duke of Holstein Gottop, on the part of the States General, is returned hither on his way home. The Dutch are raising Men in all these parts, though we do not hear that their Leavies advance very sast. The Swedes being about Building a Town on the Weser, a little below Bremen, by the name of Carelstadt; The City of Bremen have taken such a jealousie thereat, that they have sent their Deputies to the Court of Sweden, to endeavor to divert this design, though it is thought they may labor in vain, for that the Swedes pretend to have all the Out-works of this new City sinished before Winter, and the Cannon placed upon the Bastions; there are now constantly at work 1200 Souldiers, and 300 Pioneers.

Francfort, Aug. 12. We hear that the Abbe de Gra-velle, who hath resided at the Court of the Elector of Mentz, in quality of Envoye Extraordinary on the patt of the most Christian king, has Orders to pass to Mulhausen to be present there under the same Character, at an Assembly of several Circles of the Empire. Monsieur de Turenne continues still with his Forces on the Main, ready to advance farther up into the Empire, according to the advice he receives of the march of the Imperialists, who we cannot yet hear, are broken up from Egra.

Ratisbonne, Aug 13. The 31 pay Don Pedro Ron-quillo, Envoy from the Court of Spaine, arrived here; There were three things proposed in the last Assembly of the Dyet, concerning the publick good, viz. whether the Generals should be immediately called; whether the Troops of the respective Circles, ought to be forthwith brought together, and what they should farther do in the present Conjuncture; but the re was nothing resolved more, then the calling the Generals, which passed the Electoral Circle, after having been long debated in the Colledge of the Princes. mean time fome who judge it impossible, to bring the Army together, by reason of the diversity of opinions among so many Members, have proposed, for a present Remedy, to secure the publick Peace; That those Cir-cles whose Troops are already raised, should joyn them, and put them under the Command of a General, to be chosen by the Dyet, but this was left undetermined; on the other side, the Elector of Bavaria hath caused a Memorial to be presented to the States, shewing the inconveniences that will arife, unless they perswade. the Emperor to stop the marching of his Army, his most Christian Majesty having promised to recall his Forces out of the Empire, as soon as he shall be assured that the Emperors Troops are to remain in Bo-

Strasburg; Aug. 16. The 8 instant, the Deputies which had been to compliment his most Christian Maje-fty at Nancy, returned hither, extreamly satisfied with the kind reception they had had of his Majesty. The same day those of the ten Cities of Alsaria parted hence to go and pay their Respects to his Majesty. The ninth, very early in the morning, the Marquis de Vaubrun, who came all along the Sari arrived here to
