Moscow, August 26.

WE have Advice that Vice-Admiral Brèdal, with a Squadron of Seven large Ships of War and Nine Frigates, coming from Archangel and Kola, has passed the Sound; and it is probable that by this Time he has joined the other Russian Squadron in the Baltick.

From the General Quarters in Bavaria near Ober Altach, Sept. 12.

Lieutenant Colonel Trenck, having got Possession of Vichtach, was detached by Felt Marshal Khevenhuller to go to Cham, and endeavour to make himself Master of it, as being one of the best Towns in Bavaria. The afore-said Gentleman having marched immediately, went thither to summon the Commandant of the Place Colonel Count Kunigl, who was there with a Battalion of Bavarians, and gave him to understand, That being comprehended in the Capitulation of Lintz, he ought to quit the Town, and go into the open Country of the Palatinate, conformably to the said Capitulation; which he refusing, Count Khevenhuller wrote him a Letter; after which, he demanded some Time to reflect upon it, which Baron Trenck granted him. In the mean time two Men of Baron Trenck's Detachment having advanced too near the Town, they fired at them, and wounded one dangerously, having shot him through the Body: The Behegers having committed this first Hostility, Baron Trenck demanded Satisfaction for it: To which Colonel Kunigl having answered, That it had been done without his Knowledge, and contrary to his Orders, Trenck insisted upon a Categorical Answer, whether he would evacuate the Place or not: Which the other having refused, Trenck made some Motions, as if he intended to go away; which occasioned great Joy in the Town, and immediately Muck was heard from all their Towers. In the mean while Lieutenant Colonel Trenck went to another Side of the Town, and fell into the Suburbs, where indeed they fired briskly on him, but without discouraging him. Whilst he was employed in setting Fire to the Suburbs, and that they were firing at him from all Sides of the Town, one of those Houses caught Fire; which Lieutenant Colonel Trenck perceiving, he gave Orders to fire against this House, as well with Muskets as small Field Pieces, in order to drive away those who were endeavouring to put it out. The Wind, in a short Time, increased the Flames to so great a Degree, that the whole Town was quickly reduced to Ashes, little more than one Church being left. The Commandant not being able to walk, having the Gout, remained in the Town with his Grenadiers, but the rest of the Garrison were gone out on the opposite Side. But as soon as Lieutenant Colonel Trenck was informed of it, he pursued them, and made them an Offer of Pardon; which they accepted of with Joy, having directly laid down their Arms, and entreated, as a Favour, to be received into the Queen of Hungary's Service, having excused themselves for their Ignorance about the Capitulation of Lintz, some of their Officers having told them, that it was no longer in Force: With this Battalion they took five Pair of Colours, and found in the Town Eleven Pieces of Cannon, The Pandours got an immense Booty by the taking of this Place, the Inhabitants of all the adjacent Country having lodged their Effects in it for Security.

Rome, September 8. On the 3d the Governor of Orbitello arrived here privately; and after a long Conference with Cardinal Aquaviva, returned immediately to that Place. On the 4th Count Mahoni, General of Horse in the Service of the King of Naples, who arrived here lately from the Army in the Romagna, set out from hence for Naples. In the last Week two Battalions of the King of Naples's Troops passed by Viterbo, on their March to reinforce the Garrison of the Presidii. The Chevaliers Cantagalli and Roncalli had an Audience of the Pope, as Deputies of the City of Foligno, to represent the Hardship to which that Publick was exposed, by the Supply of Forrages to the Spanish Army; requiring, at the same Time, Relief to support so burthensome an Expence. On the 3d a Congregation of Eight Cardinals was thereupon summoned before the Pope to consult on this Head, as well as concerning the Supply of 2000 Rubbi of Corn required by the Spaniards, which was absolutely refused on Account of the Scarcity in the Country; and on the 4th a Courier was dispatched by the Secretary of State to the Court of Spain, with the Pope's serious Representations, for obtaining a speedy Removal of the Spanish Troops from the Ecclesiastical State.

This Court has received Advice from Bologna, as well as from Rome, that the Spanish Army was preparing to return into the Romagna, and drawing nearer the Panaro, in order to which Commissaries had been already sent to several Parts, for providing Subsistence for them. Proper Orders have been sent by this Court to Count d'Apremont, to attend Marshal Traun at Buonporto near Modena, and to concert with him what may be necessary for opposing any Attempt the Spaniards might make for passing the Panaro, for which the 14 Battalions and the four Regiments of Horse and Dragoons, which the King of Sardinia has left in Lombardy, join'd to the Troops of the Queen of Hungary, that amount to at least 12000 Men, including the Croats, are thought to be fully sufficient, especially in this Season of the Year. The Infant Don Phillip was expected the 11th at Chambery with his whole Retinue. The Spanish Troops are in the Valleys of Savoy and Tarentaie, where they commit very great Disorders.

Florence, September 16. Vienna, September 19. N. S. Count Esterhafi has Orders to repair forthwith from the Army to the Court of Dresden. His Royal Highness the Great Duke was on the 15th Instant at Beraun. It is hoped that the Junction with Count Khevenhuller will be made on the 25th Instant, at or about Furth, between Chamb and Waldmunchen.
