St. James's, May 12.

THE following Address of the Mayor, Town Clerk, and Common Council of the Burrough of Bodmyn, in the County of Cornwall, and also of the Clergy and other Principal Inhabitants of the said Burrough, has been presented to his Majesty by John Laroche, Esq; one of their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Right Hon. the Earl Poulet, one of the Lords of his Majesty's Bed-chamber in Waiting: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Town Clerk, and Common Council of the Burrough of Bodmyn, in the County of Cornwall, and also of the Clergy and other Principal Inhabitants of the said Burrough.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, amidst the general Addresses of your faithful People, beg Leave, with all Humility, to express our Abhorrence and Detestation of the Designs forming to involve these Nations in the Calamities of an unnatural War, in order to root out the Protestant Religion, and subject us to the Revenge and Tyranny of a popish Pretender.

When we reflect on your Majesty's paternal Care of your People, and the many Blessings we enjoy under your Majesty's auspicious Conduct, Gratitude, as well as Interest, inspires us with Sentiments of Duty and true Loyalty, and with a sincere Zeal for your Majesty's Service; and we shall at all Times, and upon all Occasions, unite our Endeavours, not only for promoting the Welfare and Happiness of your Majesty and your illustrious Family, but also in Defence of your undoubted Right to the Imperial Crown of these Realms.

Given under our Common Seal, at the Guildhall of the said Burrough, the 1st Day of May 1744.

(Price Four-Pence.)

The following Address of the Mayor, Freeholders and Inhabitants of the Borough of Kellingington, has been presented to his Majesty by the Hon. Charles Horatio Walpole, and Thomas Copleston, Esqrs. their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Right Hon. the Earl Poulet, one of the Lords of his Majesty's Bed-chamber in Waiting: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Freeholders and Inhabitants of the Borough of Kellingington in the County of Cornwall.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WHEN the Electors (Freeholders and Inhabitants) of this ancient Borough presum'd to approach your Royal Presence with their humble Address in the Beginning of your Majesty's Reign, they could not but most gratefully acknowledge your Majesty's Goodness and Forbearance, in order, if possible, to cultivate the Arts of Peace, for the Prosperity, Riches and Welfare of your Majesty's Great and Trading Kingdom of Great Britain, and Dominions thereunto belonging; but that if notwithstanding your Royal Endeavours, such a desirable Situation could not be obtain'd and preserv'd, consistent with the Security of this Nation and Liberties of Europe, from the restless and ambitious Views of any Foreign Power whatsoever, and that in Consequence thereof your Majesty's Sword should be obliged to be drawn, they did not doubt (by the Blessing of God) but that your Majesty's Enemies would dearly and sufficiently experience the Power thereof, and that in such Case, the Valour of the Hero would correct, where neither his Wisdom nor Moderation could amend.

And we now humbly beg Leave to offer our most sincere and hearty Congratulations on the Verification thereof at the late Battle of Dettingen, where, malgré the advantageous Situation, as well as Numbers of the Enemy, and
