Vienna, November 18, N. S.

COUNT Seckendorff has, by Order of the Emperor, who was in Person to reconnoitre Passau at a small Distance, written a Letter to Cardinal Lamberg the Bishop, that if his Eminence would, in three Days Time, oblige the Austrians to evacuate that Place, his Rights and Privileges should be preserved, and a neutral Garrison only should be put into it; but if he did not make the Austrians evacuate, he should be responsible for all the Consequences whatever. The Cardinal answered, That he neither had called the Austrians thither, nor could he oblige them to retire; so that he had nothing left but to retire himself. We are consequently expecting to hear every Day of that Town's being attacked, which will probably draw from the Saltza Count Bathiani, who has the Passages of Braunau and Scharding over the Inn, but has most particularly fortified the Convent of Capucins, situated between the Inn and the Danube, while the Imperialists are supposed to have made Bridges over the Danube at Vilshofen, in order to attack the Oberhaus or Castle situated between the Danube and the Iltz; so that if the former keeps his Post in the Part called the Innstadt, and the others gain theirs on the Part called the Iltzstadt, they will be over-against one another, with the Body of the Town of Passau between them, and commanded by them both from over the Inn on one Side, and from over the Danube on the other. General Marwitz having ordered 40,000 Rations of Bread at Glatz, was already at Neiss in his Way thither from Troppau and Jagerndorf; but hearing that General Keil, with a Body composed of the Moravian Garrisons, and the Head of the Hungarian Insurgents, was entering into Upper Silesia, he returned thither, which has occasioned the Return of General Keil likewise into Moravia. There is News since, that Marwitz is gone back again to Neiss, in which Case General Keil will without doubt advance once more, and will be better and better accompanied by Degrees, as the Insurgents shall come out, of which 8000 are upon the Point of marching, and will be followed by 6000 more. A Courier is just arrived from Prince Charles; but all that we yet hear is, that General Trenk was wounded in the Leg, by a Cannon Ball, before Kolin. An Officer is arrived from Fribourg for the Queen's final Orders; the Governor whereof being reduced, after a brave Defence, to capitulate for the Town, let himself be over persuaded to go out of the Place to treat in Person with the French King; when he was promised by the four Marshals, as he affirms, an honourable Capitulation, if the Commandant of the Castles would deliver them up with the Town. Upon this verbal Promise he let the French into his Place; but when Count Hackerbach, the Commandant of the Castles, offered to surrender them likewise in Conformity to that Promise, the French pretended that the whole Garrison should be carried into France as Hostages for the Exchange of as many French Prisoners, and for the Delivery of the rest of the French Prisoners, now in Hungary, for a certain Sum each Man. Of 22,000 French Prisoners, it is said that there are not above 6000 left alive. It is said that the French have lost 14,000 out of 60,000 Men; at this Siege. The French have desisted from their Enterprize upon Bregentz, after a Loss of 300 Men, from the brave Resistance of the Peasants.

Vienna, Nov. 21. The Duke of Weissenfelds desisted on the 13th with the Left Wing behind Kutenberg towards Czadaw, and from thence to Choltitz, where he encamped on the 12th at Night, as if his Intention had been to attack Pardubitz, to which Place he was supposed to have three Marches from Kutenberg, while the Right Wing, under Prince Charles, began on the 12th to move to Alt Kolin, and to extend itself from thence up to Neuhoff, in order to join the Duke of Weissenfelds, at the Rendezvous appointed, in the Night between the 14th and 15th, at or about Praelattitz, between Teinetz and Pardubitz, and there to pass the Elbe together; for which Purpose all the necessary Orders were given for the laying of a Bridge, to be ready at the Time appointed for the Meeting of the two Princes with their respective Corps. But they were obliged to wait on this Side the River for six Hours, sending Courier after Courier to hasten the Pontons, which it seems had stuck in a Bog, the Captain of the Bridges having, as he alledged, lost his Way in the Night. During this Time General Trenk was making false Alarms upon New Kolin till Break of Day, when the Prussians discovering what had been designed, made such Motions as obliged the Princes to lay aside their Design for that Time. But this Morning a Courier arrived from Prince Charles with a Letter from Seltmitz to the Queen, with an Account, that on the 19th the Army passed the Elbe at Telschitz, over-against which Place the Banks were guarded by three Prussian Battalions, who lost between 4 and 500 Men, with three Pieces of Cannon taken by the Austrians, and two by the Saxons. It is added, that the Prussians are separated, having one Body, which is supposed to be the greatest, to the Right, the other to the Left of the Austrians, and that the Prince was upon the Point of marching to Chlumetz.

Bridge

Journal of the Combined Army in Bohemia, from the 18th to the 24th of November.

UPON the 18th Prince Charles, who the Day before had been to dine at the Duke's Head Quarters, in order to confer with his Serene Highness, ordered his Left Wing to march on the Side of Hermanmiesitz. However his Head Quarters remained at Bretoch. Our Army halted all this Day at Choldiz, and the necessary Preparations were made for the March which had been concerted between the two Chiefs for the next Day.

Advice was received, that the King of Prussia had newly marched 600 Foot and 300 Hussars into Koniggratz, and that he had sent Orders to Pardubitz, to set Fire to all the Suburbs of that Town the Moment he should judge it necessary, for which Purpose the Fire-Pots, and combustible Matters have since been fasten'd to the Houses. He has moreover caused a second Bridge to be thrown over the River near the Magazine.

Lieutenant General Ghylani sent Word, that his Patrols had discover'd several small Camps of Horse of two Regiments each, (according to his Computation) and that they judged by the Fires, they had discovered one much stronger on the Side of Koniggratz, and that one of their Detachments was still posted on the Left of the Elbe. This was confirmed by Advice from Chrudim, which besides that, gave an Account that several Villages upon the Banks of the Elbe, particularly Oppatowitz, Liebschau, Woffiz, Kratenau, and others, were abandoned by the Enemy.

The Duke ordered Lieutenant Colonel Baron Dighern to reconnoitre the Place, where it had been projected to attempt a Passage near the Village of Telschitz, and the Disposition was made that Night. Conformably to this Design, at Nine o'Clock at Night Lieutenant General Count Schulenburg was sent with the Train of Austrian Artillery and Pontons, to take Post between Zdechowitz and Kwaletiz. At the same Time Major General Haxthausen marched from the Camp at Choldiz, with 26 Companies of our Grenadiers, and three Companies of Austrians, our Pontons, two Haubizes, four Pieces of six Pounders, and 22 three Pounders. He halted at the Distance of two Musket-shot from Telschitz. The six Battalions of which these 29 Companies were composed, were commanded by the Colonels Mupchoy and Pirch, the Lieutenant Colonels Dieden, Schlegel, Gerldorff, and the Major Gfug.

It was Four o'Clock in the Morning of the 19th of November when these Troops arrived at the Place appointed. The Artillery was forthwith placed in such a Manner that the Cannon took the Prussians, of whom two Battalions were posted on the other Side the River between Telschitz, and a Stud, in Front and in Flank, and then we set about placing the Pontons. The Prussian Centinels immediately gave the Alarm, and the Fire of their Cannon and Small Arms, which our Workmen bore without returning a Shot, was very brisk.

Notwithstanding that, Count Schulenburg having also began the Attack on his Side, the Head of our Grenadiers embarked, and scarce had Colonel Pirch and some Companies of Austrian Grenadiers passed over the River in order to enter into the Wood on the other Side, before the Action became very hot. The Prussians made a very vigorous Resistance for above three Quarters of an Hour. Two of their Battalions came to the Assistance of the two first, but the great Fire from our Batteries not only dispersed them, but also some Squadrons of their Horse, which durst not join them. Our Troops therefore passed the Elbe upon two Bridges, and the Austrians upon three others, all which were thrown over the River between Eight and Nine o'Clock in the Morning.

We lost two Gunners and seven Grenadiers, Captain Arnimb of the Artillery, five Gunners and fourteen Foot Soldiers, were wounded, and several Horses belonging to the Artillery, our Battery having been within 50 or 60 Paces (which is the Breadth of the River in that Place) of the Fire of the Prussian Small Arms. The Loss of the Prussians must have been much more considerable, above 60 having been found dead upon the Field of Battle, and wounded Men and Deserters being brought in by Troops. Lieutenant Colonel Schwaben carried off a Lieutenant with 33 Prussian Hussars from one of their Posts upon the Road to Koniggratz. The two Chiefs of the Combined Army fixed their Quarters that Evening in the Village of Chrtschiz, and ordered the Troops to encamp upon the Eminencies of Teinitz.

The next Day their Highnesses lodged in the Town which had been taken Possession of the Day

Day before as well as Kolin, both the one and the other having been evacuated by the Prussians with great Precipitation.

Upon the 21st the combined Army marched to Schischelitz, a little Town about a League from Teinitz: Prince Charles lodged there, and the Duke fixed his Quarters at Gontschitz, which is very near it. Lieutenant Colonel Schulenbourg was posted with a Detachment of Infantry at Clumez, and 1000 Horse at Kladrub, General Nadafti near the Village of Piseck, and General Ghylani upon the left of the Elbe at Lunydanky. The Pandours were posted in the Town of Kolin. The Prussians are encamped about a German Mile from us, with their Right towards Wossitz, and their Left at Wischerowitz, 8000 of them being posted at Starzwoda. Pardubitz is now guarded by 400 Prussian Foot, and 30 Hussars only. They have sent the rest of their Troops, as well as the seven Battalions from Kolin, 1 from Teinitz, and 2 from Nimbourg, towards Koenigstattel, where they reassembled with two Regiments of Horse, the Whole under the Command of Lieutenant General Nassau, making a Shew as if they intended to take the Road towards New Biczow. The two Pulcks of our Tartars under the Command of the Lieutenant Colonels Sihodzinski and Wilczewski are posted on that Side to observe their Motions, and General Nadafti has an Eye upon the Road which they shall take, in order to harass them. Col. Blendowski is posted at Mapno, to reconnoitre the main Body of their Army.

Upon the 22^d the Combined Army remained in their Camps near Schischelitz. Baron Ghylani confirmed our Advices concerning Pardubitz, adding, that according to all Appearances, the Prussians would abandon it as soon as possible, after having made all the Havock there which they had threatned. Some Prussian Deserters, who continue to come in in greater Numbers than ever, brought Advice, that Yesterday the Corps from which they deserted, had encamped near Koenigstattel; that the Artillery from Kolin, consisting of 60 Cannon of 12 Pounds and 8 Haubizes, had been conducted some Days before to Pardubitz; that the Troops which had quitted Nimbourg, Kolin, Teinitz, and Podiebrad, made in all 12 Battalions, two Regiments of Dragoons, and a Party of Hussars; that they were directing their March towards Klemeschitz; and that Lieutenant General Nassau with his Troops was taking the Road by New Biczow, in order to push towards Koniggratz, with a View to rally again with the main Body of the Army. They are unanimous in the Account they give of the bad Condition of their Army, in which Want of Provisions, Sickness and Desertion continue still upon the same Foot. In general, all Advices agree in the great Precipitation with which the Enemy is retiring since our Passage.

Upon the 23^d the Combined Army decamped from Schischelitz, and after a March of a German Mile, which was very troublesome upon account of the swampy marshy Land, encamped in the Neighbourhood of Clumez, where the two Chiefs fixed their Quarters that Day. Advice was received, that the Enemy had set Fire to the Suburbs of Pardubitz, destroyed the Bridges, and thrown, as they did before at Nimbourg, the Provisions into the River. Col. Buccow sent Word, that at one o'Clock last Night he had taken Possession of the Town, and that his first Endeavours were to extinguish the Fire, and to save what the Flames had spared. The News from the Prussian Army was, that the main Body of their Army was encamped the Day before in such a Manner, that the left Wing extended to the Village of Liebitschan on the Right of the Elbe; where the King's Quarters were, and that the Right was posted towards the Town of Nechanitz, near the little River of Bistritz; this last Motion having been made in order to facilitate the Junction of the Corps under Lieutenant General Nassau, which was advanced as far as New Biczow, by forced Marches, and with great Precipitation. Colonel Wilczewski adds in his Relation, that as well Men as Horses were exhausted by their speedy Retreat: Colonel Blendowski sent Advice, that the Enemy having divided their Troops into two Columns, one was marching directly to Glatz, and the other was taking the Road to Smirschitz, marching Day and Night.

Upon the 24th the Combined Army remained in the Camp of Clumez. A Major and 18 Cuirassiers were sent in, whom Colonel Blendowski had made Prisoners, having taken them as they were going to Forage. Lieutenant General Ghylani, who has quitted his Post at Lunydanky, in order to repass the Elbe, and harass the Enemy in their Retreat, at the same Time sent in a Cornet, whom his Hussars had taken upon the like Occasion.

The Deserters, which come over to us in great Numbers, report, that the Sickness in their Army is so much increased, that in every Company of Foot, 40, and in every Troop of Horse, from 12 to 15, were sick: That as to the rest, their Retreat was so precipitate, that the Troops had been obliged to march 36 Hours at a Stretch.

Warsaw, Nov. 21. The Dyet at Grodno sat till the 16th at Night, when the limited Time for its Continuance expired, and then broke up without coming to any Resolutions.

Hambourg, Dec. 1. We hear that the Convoy is arrived at Gluckstadt with the Ships from England, consisting of 12 Sail, of which nine are Hambourgher Bottoms, and three British.

Hague,

Hague, Dec. 8. We have very good Advice here from Bohemia; which informs us, that the King of Prussia, upon seeing Prince Charles force a Passage over the Elbe, and advance towards the Center of his Cantonment, and, according to others, upon learning that Count Palfi, with a considerable Body of Hungarian Insurgents, threatened an Incurfion into Silefia from the Side of Troppau, retired with the utmost Precipitation towards Glatz by the Way of Koniggratz, having made one forced March that had lasted 36 Hours. This Retreat, besides the Loss of Men by Desertion, Fatigue, and other Disasters, inseparable from a like Motion, has enabled the Austrians to make themselves Masters of Kolin, Podiebrad, and even after a Skirmish, in which Count Truchses, who was formerly Minister in England, is said to have been mortally wounded, of Pardubitz too. The Prussians would have destroyed their Magazines in this last Place, but the Austrians made themselves Masters of it Time enough to save a considerable Quantity of Oates. On the 25th past the Combined Army is said to have moved forward from Chlumetz towards Koniggratz, in Pursuit of the Prussians, who had halted in the Neighbourhood of the latter of these Places. Subsequent Advices from the same Quarter bring us the News, that the Prussians evacuated Prague on the 28th past, after having thrown their Artillery and Ammunition into the Elbe. The Garrison is said to be marching to Leitmeritz, and will probably try, at all Hazards, to regain their own Country. The Defence of the Castles of Fribourg has been but very short, it being certain, they were surrendered on the 25th past, and that the Garrison are Prisoners of War; but it is not yet agreed, whether by Virtue of a formal Capitulation, or by Way of Réprisals for the pretended Infractions of the Capitulations of Egra and Braunau, by the Austrians.

Dublin, November 20.

Yesterday being the Birth-day of her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, the Great Guns were fired at the Phoenix Park, and answered by Volleys from the Regiments in Garrison, which were drawn out upon Oxmantown Green. At Noon there was a splendid Appearance of the Nobility, and other Persons of Distinction, to compliment the Lords Justices upon this Occasion: And at Night there was a Play given by their Excellencies for the Entertainment of the Ladies.
