

Samples to Prince Charles, which are quite black. One Thousand four hundred Deserters more are come into Prague, so that the Body which went out of that Town on the 26th past is diminished by 3000 Men. General Keil advances on this Side of the Oder towards Troppaw and Jagendorff, whilst the Hungarian Insurgents operate on the other Side of that River. Four Regiments of Horse and seven of Foot, under Lieutenant General Thungen, are marched to Bavaria and the Upper Palatinate. Amongst those who have deserted from the Prussian Army, are several Brandenburgers, who have been 20 Years Soldiers in the Prussian Service. It is reported here, that Marshal Schwerin is dismissed from the King of Prussia's Service, and that Prince Leopold of Anhalt has retired under Pretence of being greatly afflicted with the Gout. The Dalmatians, in pursuing the Garrison of Prague, have recovered the five Copper pontoons which the Prussians had taken along with them, and taken two Pieces of Cannon, with several Waggons of Baggage; and 21 Pieces of Cannon have been found out, which were hidden in that Town. From Bavaria we have no News; the Enemy seem to be retired into Winter Quarters in the flat Country on the other Side of the Inn, and the Austrians in Bavaria on this Side of that River and the Saltza. The Campaign ended with General Bernclau's cutting four Companies of the Enemy's Grenadiers in Pieces near Burckhausen, and burning that Town with Bombs and red-hot Bullets for the Perfidy of the Burghers in betraying the Austrian Garrison. The Empress Dowager who has been for a long while in a very bad State of Health, was this Morning so ill that she received all the Sacraments. The Queen is in such Affliction as suspends all Business for the present.

Copenhagen, Dec. 5, N. S. The King and Queen of Denmark, together with the two Danish Princesses, returned hither from the Country on the 2d Instant, and are now settled for the Winter in the Palace of Christiansburg. The Prince and Princess Royal arrived likewise at Charlottenburg Yesterday in the Afternoon, all in perfect Health. Letters from Stockholm bring Advice, that the Prussian Minister there, who acts as Plenipotentiary for the Francfort Allies, had at last met with a Refusal upon his Instances to obtain the Accession of that Crown to the Treaty of Union, a Majority of the Senate having declared against it.

Copenhagen, Dec. 8. The Princess Royal is generally believed to be two Months gone with Child, which gives great Joy here.

Copenhagen, December 12. On the 10th instant four new Ships were launched here, two of 70 Guns by the Architects of the Royal Fleet, one by the East-India Company, and another by a private Builder. One of the 70 Gun Ships, and that belonging to the East-India Company, were named after the Princess Royal. The King, together with the Prince, assisted at the Ceremony, but the Weather being very cold, the Queen and Princess did not appear. His Britannick Majesty's Ship the Dover being now repaired and rigged again, will be getting out of this Port To-morrow or next Day, in order to sail down to Elfenore with the first fair Wind.

Berlin, Dec. 15, N. S. The King of Prussia arrived here Yesterday at Four o'Clock in the Afternoon, accompanied by the Prince of Prussia, Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick, and the Margrave Charles. His Majesty will go to Potzdam To-morrow or the Day after. The reigning Prince of Dessau set out from hence upon the 7th, to take upon himself the Command of the Prussian Army in Silesia. The Prince Royal, Henry, arrived here upon the 8th at Night. His Highness had been very dangerously ill of a Fever and Bloody Flux, but is at present pretty well recovered.

Hamburg, Dec. 15. It is reckoned here, that by Sickness, Desertion, and those killed in the different Skirmishes, that the King of Prussia has lost one half of his Army with which he last invaded Bohemia. His Prussian Majesty was expected as To-day, at Berlin, from whence the Prince Anhalt Dessau set out last Week, to take upon him the Command of the Prussian Army in Silesia. The Marshal Belleisle is likewise expected at Berlin. We hear that the Empress of Russia has lately declared to the Prussian Minister at her Court, and in most strong Terms, that the Intrigues of M. Wallenrodt at Grodno, had been highly displeasing to her, and that her Imperial Majesty had at the same time repeated to M. Mardefeldt, the same Assurances which Count Bestuchef was ordered to give at Grodno, of her being resolved to support, and to adhere to her Engagements with the King, and the Republick of Poland.

Hamburg, Dec. 18. The King of Prussia is said to have arrived on the 14th in the Afternoon at Berlin.

Hague, Nov. 15, N. S. Our freshest News from Bohemia is of the 2d Instant. The Prussians continued retiring towards Glatz with great Precipitation, and Loss by Desertion, Sickness, Fatigue and Skirmishes. Prince Charles's Avant Guard had possessed itself of the Towns of Neustat and Nachod, and the Chevalier de Saxe was leading a Detachment of light armed Troops in Pursuit of the Garrison of Prague. It is confidently written hither by credible Persons, that the Works of Menin were begun to be blown up by the French the Beginning of last Week. Count Maurice of Nassau sets out To-morrow for England, being recovered in his Health beyond Expectation.

Hague, Dec. 18, N. S. The last Letters from Bohemia mention the King of Prussia's having entirely evacuated Bohemia, and Prince Charles's beginning to canton his Troops in good Part upon the Territory of the County of Glatz. Letters from Dresden of the 12th Instant, bring Advice of the Garrison of Prague's being arrived at Gabel on the Frontier of Lusatia, where it is said to have been joined by another small Corps of the same Nation; that they had demanded the Passage of the Court of Dresden, and that the same had been granted them, on Condition of their laying down their Arms, which were at the same Time promised to be faithfully sent after them; that the Prussians had refused these Conditions; that two more Saxon Regiments had been sent into Lusatia to reinforce the Corps actually a-head of them there, and that the Chevalier de Saxe, with his Detachment from the Combined Army, was arrived within four Leagues.
