Fort Augustus, June 28.

A Detachment of the Garrison of Fort William, commanded by Captain Millar, which his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland had sent on board the Furnace and Terror Sloops to make Descents on the Coasts of Knodiart and Arasraig, in one of those Descents got Intelligence of the Lord Lovat, and after three Days Search, had the good Fortune to find him in a Hollow Tree. He is now in Custody here.

Kensington, July 8.

The following Address of the Justices of the Peace and Heritors in the Eastern Division of Ross-shire, having been transmitted to their Representative in Parliament, has by him been presented to his Majesty: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

Unto the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Justices of the Peace and Heritors in the Eastern Division of Ross-shire, met at Tain head Burgh of said Shire.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

AS we your Majesty's most faithful and loving Subjects have made it our constant Rule, that a Submission to the Supreme Power is our Duty as Subjects, and our Interest as we are hearty Well-wishers to your Majesty's Government under which we live, and in Support whereof we very lately rescued Life and Fortune, as we shall do upon all Occasions in Defence of that mild Administration by which we are ruled, and of our Religion and Liberties with which we are bless'd;

We do therefore, with Hearts full of Joy, congratulate your Majesty upon the late happy Overthrow of the Rebels near this Place, under the wise and brave Conduct of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, our second Deliverer, from Popish Slavery and Arbitrary Power, by which this Corner of the County suffered in a singular Manner; through their lawless and vindictive Spirits, which our known and constant Attachment towards your Majesty's illustrious Family brought upon us.

That your Majesty's Reign over a free and happy People may be long and prosperous, and the Government thereafter continue in your Royal Family unto the latest Ages, in Defiance and to the Disappointment of Enemies Abroad and at Home: And that these Nations may never want a Hero of your illustrious Family to assert our Religion and Liberties, is and shall be the constant Prayer of,

Most Gracious Sovereign,

Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects.

Signed at our Sight and Appointment, by the Præsides to the Meeting, Simon Ross; of Aldie, Pr.

Stockholm, June 20, O. S. His Swedish Majesty's late severe Fit of the Gravel is a little abated; but he is far as yet from being thoroughly well. On Wednesday last came on here the Election of the Deputies for the Burghers of this Town, to serve at the next Diet.

Venice, June 29, N. S. During the Armistice for burying the Dead, M. Maillebois owned to the Austrian Generals, that the Allied Armies of France, Spain, Naples and Genoa, had been very roughly handled, and that their Loss in the Action and by Desertion amounted to 14,000 Men. The Spaniards remain still in their Camp near Placentia, which begins from the Po on the Left, and takes a Circuit of near seven Miles. They have lately thrown two Bridges over the Po, and being much streighten'd for Subsistence, have sent a large Body into the Lodosan, who have established their Head Quarters at Lodi, where they have a Garrison of 3000 Men. They have also a Bridge over the Lambro, and it is pretty certain, that their Project was to have thrown themselves into the Pavesan, but have been prevented by the King of Sardinia's nia's having garrison'd Pavia. His Army, which consists of 30 Battalions, six Regiments of Cavalry, and 3000 Austrians, extends from Castel St. Gioanni to the Stradella, and has a Bridge over the Po to communicate with Pavia, in order to be able to oppose the Enemy, in Case they should attempt to retreat by the Novarese towards the Genoese State. We are under Apprehensions here, lest the Spanish Army should march into our Territories, especially if their Intention be to retreat without attempting a second Action. The Austrians have three Batteries, one of 22 Cannons, the second of 14, and the third of 8 Mortars, which are playing continually upon the Camp and the City. Prince Lichtenstein, is again obliged to retire from the Army, on Account of his ill State of Health; Marquis Botta commands in his Absence.

Copenhagen, July 5, N. S. Upon the 3d Instant, very early in the Morning, the Princess Royal of Denmark began to have Symptoms of an approaching Labour, which continued till Eight in the Evening, and then her Royal Highness was happily brought to Bed of a Princess. This was immediately notified and published by the Fourriers of the Court, and by the Cannon, as usual. The Day following the new-born Princess was baptized in Presence of the whole Court, and named Sophia Magdalena, after the Queen's Name; who bore her at the Font. The King of Denmark, who came to Town purely upon this Occasion, went in Person to the Palace, after the Delivery, and repeated his Visit there the next Day at the Christening. Their Majesties, together with the two Danish Princesses, propose to dine here this Day at the Palace of Rosenberg, after which they are to make another Visit to the Princess, then to return to Hirschholm, her Royal Highness being (God be praised) as well as can be expected in her Circumstances, and the young Princess perfectly well.

Copenhagen, July 9. The King of Denmark is returned to Hirschholm, and holds tolerably well. The Princess Royal, and the Princess Sophia-Magdalena her Daughter, continue both in a most promising Way. We hear from Elsenore, that Captain Porter and Captain Scot sailed thence Yesterday Morning for England, with the Trade under their Convoy, amounting to 41 Sail. A Royal Ordonnance, dated the 1st Instant, is just made publick here, importing, that the King of Denmark, in Consideration of the great Losses his Danish Majesty's Subjects have sustained by the Mortality of their Cattle, is pleased to remit the two last Quarters of the several Taxes upon Land, due in April and July, to all those who can prove that they were Sufferers by that Calamity before the 1st of May 1746. and they who have already paid any Part of the April Quarter, may have it abated in October next.

Berlin, July 5, N. S. The Queen Mother being perfectly recovered, set out Yesterday with Princess Amelia for Oranienburg, whither the Prince and Princess of Prussia repaired the Day before: His Prussian Majesty is also expected there this Day. Prince Maurice of Dessau arrived here on the 2d Instant from Stargart, and went Yesterday to Potzdam. The Governor of this City, Count Haaek, came back from Aix la Chapelle on Sunday last, but Count Schmettau is not yet returned.

Vienna, July 6, N. S.

The following is a Translation, from the German, of the Account printed here by Authority, of the late Victory obtain'd by the Empress's Troops over the French and Spaniards near Placentia, the 16th of June, N. S.

IT was on the 15th of June that the Commanding Field Marshal Prince Lichtenstein received certain Intelligence, that the Enemy was resolv'd to attack our Army the next Day with an united Force. This Resolution was the less to be doubted of, as the Enemy, being more and more press'd by the Approach of the King of Sardinia's Army, found themselves oblig'd to take a violent Resolution: For which Reason the Prince immediately made the necessary Dispositions to receive the Enemy in a vigorous Manner. At Eleven of the Clock at Night, a Captain of Balayra's Regiment, who was posted at Quartifolo, with 60 Horse and 100 Waradiners, was attacked and oblig'd to retire. As soon as General Nadafti had Advice of the said Retreat, he caus'd a Front to be form'd against the Ditch on the Flank of his Right Wing; but notwithstanding that, the Enemy drove away from thence also the Captain and 100 Waradiners who were posted there; he being reinforced with 100 Men, retook his Post. In the mean while the Enemy forc'd the Post of Cassina Pellegrina, which was occupi'd by 50 Hussars and as many Waradiners.

General Brown, who had the sole Command of the Left Wing, being arriv'd, and having received Advice from General Nadafti, by Colonel Macguire, that the Enemy not only drove back his Posts one after another, but was also in March in three Columns by Quartifolo upon the Road to Bobbio, and from Galliana, from whence it was easy to perceive, that their Design was to surround the Corps under General Nadafti, and to come behind our Cavalry of the Left Wing, Count Brown detach'd Major General Czock, and the Colonel of Vettes's Regiment, Epele, and the Colonel of young Konigsegg, Konigsegg, Marini, with ten Companies of Grenadiers, over the Canal of St. Bonico, to facilitate the Retreat of Nadasti's Corps, and to stop the Enemy till the said Nadasti, with all the Hussars and Waradiners, and the German Cavalry under the Command of General Luchesi, had repassed the said Canal. This was all performed in good Order, after which the said General Czock and the two Colonels Epele and Marini with the Infantry, who all distinguished themselves exceedingly, retired to the Left Wing. In the mean while the said General Brown posted himself with eight Battalions and twelve Companies of Grenadiers, which composed the Left Wing, together with General Keul, who was desperately wounded in the Beginning, behind the said Canal of St. Bonico. He also order'd the Generals Luchesi and Serbelloni to join the Infantry with the German Cavalry, and General Nadasti to join the Cavalry with the Hussars, and two Battalions were sent to General Serbelloni, under the Command of Colonel Epele, to support the Cavalry of the second Line: But General Czock, with the Colonel of Staremberg, Ebenthal, and the Lieutenant-Colonel of Bernclau, Sapper, were posted upon the Road to Galliana to cover the great Battery, by which a whole Line was formed behind the Canal of St. Bonico; and in this Position we waited for the Enemy.

It was hardly Break of Day, when we began to fire from our great Battery, not only upon the Enemy's Camp, but also upon the Town of Placentia to the Right and to the Left, notwithstanding that the Enemy repaid us from the Town and Cittadel. At Sun rising, we saw the Enemy's Right Wing (consisting of 16 Spanish and 22 French Battalions, exclusive of the Companies of Grenadiers, and some Cavalry, commanded by the French Marshal de Maillebois, who had with him the Spanish Lieutenant General d'Aramburo and the French Lieutenant General Marquis de Mirepoix) marching up to our Left Wing in the finest Order and full Front; whereupon the Firing immediately began from the Artillery and Small Arms, and with such Success on our Side, that the Enemy was obliged to retire twice. In the mean while our Cavalry of the first Line (which consisted of the Regiments Lobcowitz, Holy and Balayra, under the excellent and commendable Conduct of General Luchesi, who was very laudably supported by General Serbelloni, with the Regiments of Cavalry of the second Line, viz. Berlichingen and Kohary) repassed the Canal of St. Bonico, pierced the Enemy's Sword in Hand, and drove them back. During which Time our Infantry and Artillery made an unspeakable Fire amongst the Enemy, to which they were encouraged by the continual Presence of General Brown, and the Assistance of the Generals Andlau and Vogtern, insomuch that our Men did not once give Way, or fall into the least Disorder. In Consequence of this Intrepidity on our Side, the Enemy with their Right Wing was at last obliged to leave to us the Field of Battle, with a Loss of eight Cannon and twenty Pair of Colours, and a great many killed and wounded: Whereupon the said General Brown order'd the Grenadiers and some Infantry to follow the Enemy. They form'd indeed a Battalion Quarré, but Colonel O Donnel, of Balayra's Regiment, forced them in such a Manner with his Squadrons, that not only a great Number were killed, but also, by the Assistance of the Infantry which was sent after him, about 3000 Prisoners, amongst which is the Spanish Lieutenant General d'Aramburo, fell into our Hands; so that in about the Space of three or four Hours, the Marshal Maillebois with his whole Right Wing was overthrown, and totally vanquished, and at last driven back into his old Camp, in the greatest Confusion and Disorder.

The happy Success of the said Left Wing is incontestably chiefly to be attributed to the skilful and judicious Dispositions of General Brown, and to his continually encouraging of the Men; nor had the Generals Luchesi, Serbelloni, Andlau, Vogtern, Gelhay and Kolb, less Share in the said Victory, or even the other Officers and private Men, who certainly all did their Duty, one distinguishing himself as much as the other, and have thereby gained immortal Honour. In the same Manner the Colonel of Schulemberg's Regiment, Binder, who commanded in the new Battery, fell into the Flank of the retiring Enemy with two Companies of Grenadiers, and not only did them great Damage, but also made several Prisoners.

With respect to the Attack on our Right Wing, it is to be observed, that the Enemy began before Day to attack our Out-Posts, which General Marquis Novati not only reinforced with 200 Men out of the four Battalions which he had with him, but also put himself in a Posture with the rest of his Troops, to receive the Enemy vigorously. In the mean while the Fire increased, and at Day-light it was perceived that the Enemy had a very great Force upon the Road to Cremona, with a Design to attack our Flank from thence. As soon as Lieutenant Field Marshal Bernclau perceived that the Fire began to be great, he posted himself with the abovesaid four Battalions under General Novati on the Po Morto, to oppose the first Attack of the Enemy, and under his brave Conduct, and the valiant Assistance of the said General Novati, the superior Force of the Enemy

Enemy was withstood for some Time, though they were obliged at last to retire a little : But Lieutenant Field Marshal Linden, and General Stampach, caused the two Regiments of Cavalry, Savoy and Portugal, to advance, and at the same Time the said two Generals advanced with two Squadrons, the first commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Count Halleweil, and the other by Lieutenant Colonel Hedwiger, against the Enemy, and obliged them, with the Help of Desoffy's Regiment of Hussars, to retreat. The Infantry thereby gained Time to form again, which obliged the Enemy, notwithstanding their prodigious Fire, to retire. Whereupon General Bernclau found it necessary to throw the Battalion under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Janus of Henry Daun's Regiment, into the nearest Cassine, who defended the same with uncommon Bravery. At the same Time that the Enemy made their Attack on the Po Morto, they attacked with great Vigour the Redoute in the Front ; and though Baron Forgatch, Captain of Schulemburg's Regiment, who was posted there, repulsed the Enemy three Times, yet at last they carried it ; after which, Ensign Renard, of Bernclau's Regiment, maintain'd himself in the Cassine in the said Redoute for a long While, till at last having received thirteen Wounds with the Bayonet, he was obliged to submit to the Superiority of the Enemy, and render himself Prisoner. The Enemy advanced on that Side with a great Force, and we could oppose them with nothing but what was there under the Command of Major Newhoff, viz. a Battalion of Schulemburg, and the Companies of Grenadiers and a Battalion of Bernclau (in which there remained only three Captains alive, viz. Sheffen, Untenhoffen, and Klaublitz, the Colonel Baron Geyersperg being already killed.) The Enemy thought to support the Attack by the Means of continual fresh Troops, and attempted it six Times ; but was always repulsed by the Bravery of the two above mentioned Lieutenant Field Marshals, who by their own Example, and exposing of their Persons continually, encouraged their Men to the Attack. In the mean while, the Enemy made themselves Masters of the Redoute which covers the Road to Cremona ; but General Bernclau, with the two Regiments Coloredo and Andraffy, which General Pallavicini had sent out of the second Line to succour the Attack on the Po Morto, attacked again the Enemy, and not only retook the said Redoutes, but also delivered Lieutenant Keck, of Konigsseg's Regiment, who was posted in the Cassine upon the Road, and who was already wholly surrounded by the Enemy, and had only defended himself so long by a continual Fire down the Stairs : In this Affair the said General retook the two Cannon which the Enemy had taken from us.

Notwithstanding such effectual Opposition on our Part, the Enemy would by no Means give over, but advanced again in Front to the Redoutes on the Right of the Road to Cremona, and attacked them again ; but General Bernclau having received from Count Pallavicini, the Regiments Vettes, Staremburg and Daun, he received the Enemy with so brisk a Fire, that they retired with Precipitation, and attempted no farther Attack ; Schmertying's Company of Carabineers, who were posted behind the said Regiments, pursued the flying Enemy sword in Hand, and took from them three Pair of Colours. Colonel Count Gorani, who was posted in the College of St. Lazaro, and had repulsed the Enemy three Times, and otherwise very much distinguished himself, fell into their Flank, and obliged them to retire with the utmost Precipitation to their Camp, whither our Artillery accompanied them ; and the Royal Carabineers, who were ordered to support this last Attack, received great Damage. The Enemy still occupied on the Po Morto the Post they had taken there, but Count Palavicini having caused a Battalion of his Regiment to advance under the Command of his Major, Alleman, and to be covered by the Brigade of General Harsch, they were at last, notwithstanding that they defended themselves for some Time in the Cassine, obliged to fly from thence also ; so that the whole Action was over before Noon ; Whereupon our Troops were assembled, and General Marulli, who also signalized himself in this Action, was ordered to cover our Right Flank with Staremburg's Regiment, in case the Enemy should attempt a fresh Attack.

It is undeniable that the Enemy made Use of a superior Force against our Right Wing, and that the Attack was conducted by de Gages himself, who had three Lieutenant Generals, Douche, Seve, and Caravahall, with three Columns under him. On the other Hand it is incontestable, that if ever there was an Action wherein the Cavalry and Infantry vied in Bravery and Vigour, they have plainly made it appear on this Occasion. The Generals followed the Example of the Commanding Field Marshal, the other Officers that of the Generals, and the Horse and Foot encouraged one another to the Attack, and seconded each other wherever Danger was present. In a Word, this Victory, through God's Assistance, is, after the Commanding Field Marshal Prince Lichtenstein, most certainly to be attributed, on the Left Wing to the excellent Conduct of General Brown, and the laudable Assistance of General Luchesi, and after them the Generals Serbelloni, Andlau, Vogtern, Gelalay and Kolb ; and on the Right Wing, to the distinguished Valour of the Generals Linden and Bernclau, Novati, Marulli, Harsch, Schmertying and Stampach ; and to give the other Officers an impartial Praise, it must be owned, that every every one sought to distinguish himself wherever the Occasion presented itself.

The Artillery deserves also its Praise, and Equity especially demands it here for the great Loss occasioned to the Enemy thereby; which good Effect is wholly to be attributed to the Commanders, Lieutenant Colonel Schrems and Captain Telscher, who both continually encouraged their Men, and caused an incessant Fire to be made, by which they, as well as the others, have acquired a well deserved Reputation.

The Loss of the Enemy, according to their own Confession, amounts to between 14 and 15000 Men, every thing included; the Number of the found Prisoners, French and Spanish, exclusive of the Officers, amounts to 2494, and wounded to 2040, in all 4534. Officers Prisoners 271, amongst which are 177 French, and 94 Spanish; and besides the abovesaid, Lieutenant General Don Joseph d'Aramburo, a Marshal de Camp M. de Wurtz, and many Officers of the Etat Major. We have also taken 29 Pair of Colours, one Standard, and 10 Pieces of Cannon. On our Side the Loss in German Infantry and Cavalry, Waradiners and Slavonians in killed, wounded, and lost, or Prisoners, according to the Tabelles, amounts in all to 3375 Men, and 783 Horses.

Vienna, July 6, N. S. By our last Advices from Italy, the Enemy had thrown two Bridges over the Po, one on each Side of their Bridge at Placentia, and had not only passed over the uppermost a considerable Detachment, compos'd chiefly of the French, to be posted at Beljoioso, but were in such other Motions, as made it to be believed, that they intended to pass into the Milanese; but whether with a Design to remain there for Subsistence, keeping at the same Time a sufficient Head in Placentia, or, after leaving a certain Garrison there, to retreat over the Adida into the Venetian State, and from thence into the Ecclesiastical State, is unknown here.

Hague, July 12, N. S. The four British Regiments were to march as To-day from Willemstadt, and Expedients have been found out for sending them 300 Horses from the Army, for the Use of their Artillery, till their own Undertakers can furnish others. Marshal Saxe is reported to have made a Motion towards Lier, and to have repass'd the Neete. Several French Reinforcements arrive daily from the Upper Meuse, and the three Bishopricks. By our freshest Advices from Italy, the Junction between the Piedmontese and Austrians was not quite effected; and the Enemy maintained himself upon the Po, under Cover of the Artillery of Placentia.

Hague, July 15, N. S. The Allied Army had made no Motion Yesterday. Marshal Saxe having left eight Battalions in the Town and Cittadel of Antwerp, and in the Forts upon the Scheld, is said to have repass'd the Dyle, and to have been met on that Side by several considerable Reinforcements. The Town of Mons surrendered on the 11th Instant, the Garrison Prisoners of War: Count Nava, the Prince of Hesse Philipsthal, and Major General Lindtman, are left at Liberty. The Fort of St. Ghilain it is said is not comprehended in the Capitulation, and has obliged the French to attack it in Forti. The freshest Advices from the Side of Lombardy are of the 1st Instant, N. S. when the Junction between the Austrians and Piedmontese was so far effectuated, that his Sardinian Majesty had taken upon him the supreme Command of both Armies. The Allies had found Means to transport themselves to the Milanese Side of the Po without any Loss, after having provided, as well as its Situation would admit of, for the Defence of Placentia.

Camp of Terhyde, July 12, N. S. This Morning the four British Battalions came into Camp in very good Order.

Camp of Terhyde, July 15, N. S. Mons surrendered the 11th Instant, the Garrison Prisoners of War. The Enemy talk now of investing Charleroy and St. Ghilain at once. We just now hear, that Yesterday the Left of the Enemy's second Line passed the Demer, and that they are going to take the Camp of Louvain or Park, one of the strongest in the Low Countries; and some Advices say, that they design to extend between Louvain and Tirlemont, and are every Day join'd by Troops from the Moselle.
