

and that new Levies were making in Valentia and Arragon.

Hague, November 4, N. S. By our last Advices from Paris, the Earl of Morton remained Prisoner in the Bastile; but it was said that his Lady and his Family were to be released upon the 31st past. The News of the great Loss of the French at the Passage of the Var, is not confirmed; but we have Accounts, that the King of Sardinia had worsted the Enemy in different Actions upon the 14th and 15th past, and the following Days, and had thereby made himself Master of the whole County of Nice, and it was expected his Majesty would march forthwith into Provence. The Enemy, since their repassing the Var, are said to point directly towards Toulon. All the Letters from Paris agree, that the Duke d'Anville has failed in his Enterprize, but the Circumstances of his ill Success are carefully concealed by the French Court. By our last Advices from Brussels, Marshal Saxe continued there, and had given Orders to the French Officers not to part with their Equipages, but to hold themselves in Readiness to march at a Moment's Warning. The French were fortifying Louvain, and a Garrison of 3000 Men was ordered to Nivelles.
