

of Miss Marjoram, and James Holt otherwise Hault, and each of them, do surrender himself and themselves, within the Space of Forty Days after the first Publication of this Order in the London Gazette, to the Lord Chief Justice, or one other of his Majesty's Justices of the Court of King's Bench, or to one of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace.

William Sharpe.

Ulm, June 12, N. S. This Morning we received Advice from Italy, that in the Night between the 20th and 21st of last Month, General Schulemberg, who commands the Austrian Army before Genoa, attacked the high Ground contiguous to Pontcevera in five Columns; and that notwithstanding the advantageous Situation of this Post under the Cannon of Genoa, and cover'd by the Mountain upon which the Troops of the Republick are encamp'd, the Austrians made themselves Masters of it before Break of Day; and being afterwards attacked with all the Force which the Duke de Boufflers could possibly bring against them, they had kept their Ground with the Loss of about sixty Men killed and wounded, having killed Five Hundred of the Enemy, and made Fifty Prisoners, amongst whom is the Marquis de Grimaldi. The Possession of this important Post opens a Passage for the Austrian Artillery to Sestri, and twelve Pieces of Cannon were already arrived there.

Ulm, June 6, Letters from Italy confirm the News lately received from Genoa, and say the Austrians are now Masters of all the Hills about that City.

Head Quarters at Bouwel, June 13, N. S. The Corps de Reserve, under Prince Wolfenbuttle, has made a Motion this Morning to our Left, and will encamp this Night upon the Great Heath behind Westerlo. General Baroniai with his Corps of Irregulars and the Regiment of Styrum's Dragoons, are advanced to Sichern on the Demar, where he will be better situated than before, to observe the Motions of the Enemy, who by their Preparations seem to point towards Maestricht; they have given out amongst their People, that their Design was to attack the Allies in their Camp; but that Report gains but little Credit.

Since the French King's Arrival at the Army, the Works along the Dyle have been considerably augmented; and they act with so much Caution, that they have thrown up a Sort of Parapet all along the Front of their Camp, between the Redoubts which had been made before.

The 11th and Yesterday a large Body of Troops moved to the Right, and the Corps under the Comte de Clermont moved back again towards the Meuse; it is said the Troops marched towards their Right are 10,000 Men, and in Conjunction with Clermont's Corps are intended to attempt the Siege of Maestricht.

The French King is still at Brussels, and they give out now, that he will fix his Head Quarters at Louvain, when he leaves that Place: Their Horse are to encamp the 16th, the Dragoons being already moved out: They are continually changing the Garrison of Antwerp, though they seldom have fewer than twenty Battalions in the Town.

The Imperialists and French Generals, appointed for settling the Exchange of Prisoners, have had several Meetings within these few Days, and for the Security of both Parties, a Cessation of Hostilities was agreed on within such a District, which was between Duffel and the Right of Lieer: To-morrow that Cessation is at an End. The Imperial Troops, which will be released on this Occasion, are intended to join the Allied Army, and will amount to six or seven Battalions.

The Recruits for the Austrian Cavalry arrive daily; they are perfectly well mounted and arm'd, and make a fine Appearance.

Prince Saxe Hildburghausen, with the Detachment of the Army, is still encamped at West Wesel; the Posts which the Enemy had at Mexem, Eckeren, and the Villages on this Side Antwerp, are all withdrawn.

Hague, June 13, N. S. General Ligonier arrived here on Sunday Morning, and immediately had an Audience of the Prince of Orange; he proposes to set out for the Army To-morrow Morning. Marshal Saxe has recalled the Body of Troops under M. de Clermont, and likewise those that were in Dutch Flanders, except about 6000 Men that are left there to guard the Towns. M. Van Hoey has had his Audience of the Prince of Orange. An Express arrived last Sunday from Hesse Cassel, with the Consent of that Court relating to three Battalions of Foot, and one Regiment of Dragoons, which the States General are to take into their Pay, amounting to 3040 Men. The Corps under Count Clermont is marched towards Wavre with 26 heavy Cannon, besides their Field-pieces: They have been joined by the Regiments of Alsace and Nassau Sarbruck, so that they are now 20 Battalions and 34 Squadrons. By Letters from Brussels of the 11th, the French Cavalry quitted their Cantonments on Thursday last, and joined the Grand Army, whose Center is at present at Wakezele, with their Left at Malines, and their Right at Louvain. The Letters from Paris pretend, that they had private Advices from Provence, that Marshal Belleisle's Army was upon the Var; that the Head Quarters were at Cannes; and that the Marshal only waited for the Spaniards advancing to pass that River.

The King has been pleased to constitute and appoint the Right Honourable James Lord Tyrawly, Lieutenant General of his Majesty's Forces, to be Governor of the Island of Minorca, and the Town and Garrison of Port Mahon, in the Room of the Earl of Stair, deceased.

The King has been pleased to grant unto Paul Forester, Doctor of Divinity, the Place and Dignity of a Canonry or Prebend of the Cathedral Church of Christ, in the University of Oxford, void by the Death of Doctor Peter Foulkes.
