Constantinople, April 23. In the Night between the 15th and 16th Instant, a Fire broke out in the Scharfchee or Market, where all the Riches of this great City center, and notwithstanding it was always supposed to be Fire-Proof, being vaulted and of Stone, it was entirely consumed to the Ground, and with it an immense Value in rich Apparel of all Sorts for Men and Women, Quilts, Sophas, Warehouses belonging to Dealers in Gold and Silver Wares, and Money Changers, who had a great Part of the Cash of this City in their Hands. The Damage is computed to amount from 10,000 to 30,000 Purfes of Money, which is from 5 to 15 Millions of Dollars. This Fire appearing in several different and opposite Parts between Eleven and Twelve at Night, and some Bags of combustible Matter being found, it was imagined the Intent was to get at the Arms which were sold there, in order to raise a Rebellion; but an Order was sent to the Janizar Aga to keep the Gates of these great Exchanges shut. On the 18th one of the great Arches of the Buildings gave Way, and crushed some People under its Ruins, which occasioned so much Confusion, that the Malevolents took Advantage thereof, and began to cry out amidst the distressed Multitude, Rebellion, and that the Grand Signior was dead. On which an Alarm spread through the whole City, the Shops began to be shut, and Bake-houses to be stormed for Bread, so that double Guards were immediately placed, and Rounds made by the Vizier and other great Officers Day and Night. On the 19th, all the Cziosbaskys, or Colonels of Janizaries, were called to the Porte, and a considerable Sum of Money given them to distribute amongst the Janizaries, since which Time all remains in perfect Tranquility. Upon some Murmurs and Complaints, the Janizar Aga has been deposed and exiled, and the Caul Cheaiazy, or Lieutenant General of the Janizaries, has been made Aga. Several Persons are imprisoned, but no Executions have yet been made.

Naples, May 14. Brigadier Colonne, Brother to the Prince de Stigliano, having married the Widow of the late Chevalier de Palma, contrary to the King's express Orders, which forbids Officers marrying without his Majesty's Permission, the King has ordered him to be committed to the Castle of Bafa, and his Lady to be shut up in a Convent. His Majesty has likewise ordered the Bishop of Nola, who gave his Consent to their Marriage, to be cited before the Royal Chamber, in order to his being censured for the same.

Dantzick, May 23. A Deputation of twenty six Members of the Colleges of the Magistracy of this City, set out the 20th Instant for Warsaw, at the Head of whom are the Burgomaster Ferber, the Sindick Leynick, and the Councillor Janson. A Deputation of the Burghers took the same Route the next Day, having at their Head the Elders of each trading Company. These Deputations are to lay their Complaints against each other before the King, and to beseech him to reconcile them in such Manner as his Majesty shall judge most conformable to the Rules of Equity.

Munich, May 23. The Prince of Deux Ponts, who has spent some Days with their Serene Highnesses at the Palace of Nymphenbourg, set out Yesterday Morning on his Return to Mannheim. The Count de Aubigny, the French Minister at this Court, having obtained the King his Master's Leave to return Home, is preparing to set out for Paris.

Vienna, May 23. The Envoy from the Dey and Regency of Tripoly had Yesterday his Audience of Leave of Count Harrach, President of the Aulick Council of War, with the usual Ceremony; after which he was magnificently treated, with all his Retinue, by Order of the Court. The Chamberlain Count de Millefimo was married a few Days ago, in the Presence of their Imperial Majesties, to the Countess de Korzenski, one of her Imperial Majesty's Maids of Honour.

Nuremberg, May 25. The Duke and Dutchess of Wirtemberg, accompanied by a numerous Retinue, arrived last Saturday Night at Erlang, where the Margrave was come the same Day from Bareith to receive them. The two Courts passed that Night together there, and the next Day set out for Bareith, where the Duke of Wirtemberg proposes staying some Days.
