

Cologne, Novemb. 2. All our Letters from Germany speak of the disgrace and banishment of the Prince Lobkowitz, Great Master of the Emperors Household, but do not, as yet, tell us particularly the cause thereof, farther, then that it is thought, that upon the examining the Papers of his Secretary, lately arrested, several matters are discovered, wherein he is concerned, which it is not yet thought fit to reveal.

Ghent, Octob. 30. It is now certainly said again, That the Count de Monterey will quit this Government, and return to Spain, for which he accordingly prepares himself; and our next Letters from Madrid, will, we suppose, tell us of the Nomination of his Successor. We have here the News of the Surrender of Grave, and that the Marquis de Chamilly the Governor, marched out with the French Garrison the 27 instant, with 22 pieces of Cannon, &c. towards Charleroy. The Imperialists continue still quartered between Diest and Ruremond; it is thought they will now suddenly pass the Meuse at Ruremond, and march to take their winter-quarters in the Electorate of Cologne, where they had them the last year.

Dixm, Novemb. 2. The Imperialists continue still in their Quarters about Diest, and General Souches keeps, as yet, the Command of the Army; he hath been lately somewhat indisposed at Louvain. The Spanish Troops are all gone to their Winter-quarters, and the general Officers are most of them at Brussels. The French continue to fortifie Marchienne upon the Scarp, having, at present there 800 Horse, and 1400 Foot; by means of which place, and St. Amand, they pretend to secure their Country from having contributions exacted from them this Winter by our Troops. Yesterday dyed at Brussels the onely Daughter and Heir of the Count de Monterey, after four dayes sickness, to the great affliction of their Excellencies, and the whole Court.

Brussels, Novemb. 6. On Friday last, arrived here Count Chavigniac, and Count Mansfield, from the Imperial Army, which they left quartered at Bernighen in the County of Liege, and the next day had a long Conference with his Excellency. We are told, that something will yet be done before Winter; and that the Prince of Orange, since the Surrender of Grave, has been to consult with General Spork (who has now the Command of the Imperial Army resigned to him by Count Souches, who is returning for Vienna) about it; and on Thursday last, his Highness returned from the said Imperial Army, for the Hague. The Generals of the Spanish Forces, are commanded by his Excellency to be all ready here in Town to execute such orders as they may receive from his Excellency. This day Count Chavigniac, and Count Mansfield, returned to the Imperial Army with a Convoy of 200 Horse, having with them 60000 Crowns due to the Army, which they received here; and this makes us the rather believe that something is yet to be done. Some Holland Troops that were left in this Province, are this day marched from Malines, to join the Imperial Army, which, it is said, will pass the Meuse about Hoy in the Country of Liege. We are told, that the Prince of Orange will send eight or ten thousand more, and that four or five thousand are to march from these Countries, to join the Imperialists, and make up 22000 Men together.

Hague, Novemb. 2. Our Letters from Grave of the 29 past, tell us, That the day before, about eight in the Morning, the French Governour and Garrison marched out from thence, consisting in 1600 Foot, and 400 Horse, taking with them four pieces of Cannon, drawn each with six Horses, and about 200 Wagons laden with their Baggage, with a Convoy of 4000 of our Troops towards Maseyck, to continue their march from thence to Charleroy; besides these, 800 sick Soldiers were shipped at Grave with 18 pieces of Cannon, to be conveyed, according to the Capitulation to Mastricht. There be several reports about the Artillery, Ammunition, and Provisions the French left behind them in the Town; some speak of 450 pieces of Cannon; others, of 305 onely (besides the Iron and French Cannon) of 13000 Sacks of Meal, 1200000 pound of Bisket 400000 pound, Bullets, and a considerable quantity of Arms, but this is not altogether certain. The Prince of Orange is gone to his Forces in Brabant.

Dixm, Novemb. 6. In a day or two the Prince of Orange is now expected here, being arrived from Brabant at his house near Amersford in the Province of Utrecht, where his Highness will divert himself a day or two with Hunting, and then return hither. The discourse here is, That his Highness will send several Troops, under the Command of Major General Faria, to join with some Spanish and the Imperial Forces, in order to the doing something yet before Winter; but many think the season too far advanced. Our Letters from Germany speak diversly; some say, That the Confederates are marched against Monsieur de Turenne to attack him in his camp; but others tell us, That they are about separating, and going into Winter quarters.

Paris, Novemb. 3. From Nancy of the thirtieth past they write, That the Castle of Wissembour, after having been for three dayes battered with the Confederates Cannon, was surrendered by the French, on condition to march out with their Arms, Baggage, &c. The twenty fifth, the Confederates were still encamped near the said Castle, and Monsieur de Turenne continued in his Quarters at Desvillers, about a League from Sarrebourg, where he expected the thirtieth the arrival of Monsieur Genlis with twenty Squadrons of Horse under his Command; and the second of this Month, the Marquess of Montauban with 25 Squadrons more of Horse, and eight Battalions of Foot. Yesterday the Prince of Conde, and the Duke of Enguien his Son arrived at St. Germain, and were received by his Majesty with great kindness, and expressions of esteem, for the considerable services performed by them this Campagne in Flanders. The advices we have from Roussillon, tell us for certain, that the Spaniards, under the Command of the Duke of St. Germain, have repassed the Straight of Pertuis, and are retreated into Catalonia; and that thereupon the Duke of Scomberg has likewise dispersed his Troops into Winter-quarters.
