From Monday February 15. to Thursday February 18. 1674.

Lyme, Febr. 15.

Yesterday arrived here the Rose of this place, in 48 hours from Rotterdam, she came out with a Fleet of 40 Sail of Dutch Merchantmen and two Men of War bound for Lübon and Spain.

Weymouth, Febr. 15. Yesterday arrived here the Hope of this Port from France, as likewise two other Vessels from Newcastle; and two Men of War of Zealand, the one mounted with 12, the other with 14 Guns: this day they are gone out again to Cruise.

Vienna, Febr. 3. On Monday last the Count of Oxenstern, Ambassador Extraordinary of Sueden, took his leave of the Emperor, in order to his departure from this Court; but having the next day received an Express from the Baron Spar, who resides with the same Character in the Court of France, his Excellency desired a Conference, in which he acquainted the Commissioners, That his Most Christian Majesty had made a farther step in the matter of the Peace, by condescending to send his Ambassadors to any place which the Allies should choose within the United Provinces, except Friseland and Groninguen, seeing they did not like of Breda, which his Majesty had proposed; and as for the Prince of Furstenbergh that his Majesty would be content he should be put into the hands of the Pope, till the conclusion of a general Peace; what answer was returned his Excellency in these points, we do not certainly learn; but it is thought not to have been to his Excellencies satisfaction, seeing he continues his resolution, to set forward on his journey from hence the beginning of the next week. On Monday next General Cops will part hence for Silesia, to put himself at the head of the Emperor's Forces in that Country. The Count of Hofkircken is appointed by the Emperor to go and take an account of the Imperial Troops commanded by the Duke of Bournonville, in order to the informing his Majesty of the true posture they are in.

Stetin, Febr. 12. Most of the Suedish Troops are retired out of the Uckermark, belonging to the Elector of Brandenburgh; and this day two Regiments of Horse, with one of Foot, passed through this place; and took their march towards Hinder Pome, likewise belonging to his Electoral Highness, having with them 19 pieces of Cannon, and about 50 Wagons laden with Ammunition, &c. The 14 we expect here General Wangel with the rest of the Troops and the Artillery, except five or six Regiments, which are to continue their Quarters in the Uckermark.

Cologne, Febr. 12. On Monday last Monsieur Fischer returned hither from Munster, and the next day parted for B, to give the Generality there an account of his Negotiation. The Imperialists have restored to our Elector the Tolls or Customs which are paid at Limz, Andern and Bon, which they have disposed of to their own use ever since they were possessed of those places. We were some days since told that the Imperial Cavalry was commanded to pass the Rhine, in order to the securing the Dutchy of Fuliers, &c. against the French, who demand the same Contributions of the Nobility and Gentry they pay the Imperialists; but since we hear nothing farther of it, and the French, Diitto, Febr. 19. We understand that upon the reiterated instances of the Bishop of Munster, the Imperialists have quitted the Quarters they had in the Bishoprick of Paderborne, which (it is said) will be filled again by the Munster Troops who were with the other Confederates in Alsacia, and are now coming down the Rhine. Here is a Report in Town of a great Conspiracy having been discover'd at the Elector of Bavaria's Court, against his Electoral Highnesses's person, and that 12 persons, some of them of Note, had been apprehended thereupon. The seventh instant, the Count Waldeck passed through Ratisbon on his way to Vienna, whither he is sent by the States General of the United Provinces, and the Prince of Orange, to adjust matters relating to the next Campagne. The Marquels of Grana comes hither again with his Regiment.

Strasburgh, Febr. 15. The French are now absolute Masters in Alsacia, and the monthly Contributions which the Garrisons of Brisac and Philipsburgh exact of the Inhabitants as far as the Neckar, amount to above 150 000 Crowns. In the mean time the French make a great Magazine at Colmar, bringing thither great stores of all sorts of Military provisions from Meiz. The Duke of Lorraine is still here, but (as we are told) much dissatisfis'd at the ill conduct of things among the Confederates.

Aerthem, Febr. 21. On Friday the 15 instant, his Highness the Prince of Orange arrived here, the Deputies of the three quarters of Gelderland having received his Highness about a mile out of Town, without the Gate, which his Highness entered, was drawn up the Regiment of Horse of the Marquels de Mompellian in Garison here; within the Gate two Regiments of Foot, and six Companies of Burgers were drawn up on each side of the street, to the house of the Sieur Rosenda, which was prepared to lodge his Highness. The Magistrates having received his Highness as he entered the Town, conducted him to his Apartment amidst the Acclamations of the People, who, by adorning the streets with Herbs, setting up of Flags, and erecting Triumphal Arches, and all other ways the place was capable of, expressed their respect and affection to his Highness. The next day his Highness received the Compliments of most of the persons of quality of this Province, who had purposely resorted hither on this occasion. On the Sunday his Highness went to the Great Church, where, after the Sermon, the Psalms or Hymns were sung with excellent Musick, purposely prepared. On Monday his Highness, accompanied with several Persons of Quality, diverted himself with Hunting. On Tuesday the States of the Province met, and his Highness being come into their Assembly, thanked them for their great affection to him in offering him the Sovereignty of their Province, which he refused to accept of, telling them, that the Interests of the Provinces were more dear to him him than those of his own Person; after which, his Highness communicated to them, the Establishment he had caused to be made of the Magistracy, being much on the same foot, as before the War; and received from the States their Act, constituting him Hereditary Stadtholder, and Captain General of this Province; Upon which, his Highness ordered the Re-establishment of the Court of Justice; where his Highness took his place this day as Stadtholder, to hear the first Cause pleaded before him.

Hague, Febr. 23. Our Letters from Gelderland give us an account of the Prince of Orange's having refused the offers of that Province, though with hearty thanks for so great a demonstration of their affection to him; about the latter end of this week his Highness intends to part from Aerghem towards Groninguen. We know not yet what certainly to say of the intention of the Crown of Sueden, and many people are of opinion things will not come to a Rupture; in the mean time the Swedish Ambassador here continues to perform the part of a Mediator, giving in several Memorials to the States General about the matter of the Peace. And this week Sir William Temple, Ambassador Extraordinary from His Majesty of Great Britain, (who hath been received as Mediator by all the Parties engaged in the present War) gave likewise in a Memorial in order to the disposing the States and their Allies to agree, that Nimeguen may be the place of Congress; which they still seem to decline. It is reported as if the Bishop of Munster had refused to ratifie the Treaty not long since concluded by his Minister at Vicuna, unless the Emperor did exempt the Bishoprick of Paderborne from quartering of any of the Imperial Troops; and that he had declared to the Emperor's Minister at his Court, that he was not able to bring on foot the number of Troops stipulated by the said Treaty.

And We forbid all Papists, or reputed Papists, to come into Our Palace at Whitehall, or Saint James's, or into any other place where Our Court shall be, contrary to Our late Prohibition, upon pain of Imprisonment in the Tower, if he be a Peer of the Realm; or in some other Prison, if he be of lesser quality. And lastly, We appoint, That care be taken for the Suppression of Conventicles, hereby Declaring, That all Our Licences were long since Re-called; And that no Conventicle hath any Authority, Allowance, or Encouragement from Us. And Our Pleasure is, That these Our Commands be Published and Executed in the usual manner.

Given at Our Court at Whitehall this Twelfth day of February, in the Seven and twentieth year of Our Reign.
