The KING's most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Constantinople, May 2. By Letters from Bassora, dated the 30th of Dec. and 8th of Jan. we have Advice from Persia, that Isphahan has again changed its Master, Azad Khan is once more in Possession of that City, Hussein Khan is withdrawn to Missendroon, and Carem Khan is Master of Schiras. Every City or Town of that Kingdom has an oppressive Master, and every petty Governor acts like an absolute Monarch.

Madrid, May 23. Their Catholick Majesties continue at their Royal Seat of Aranjuez in perfect Health. Letters from Cadiz have brought Advice of the Arrival in that Bay on the 7th Instant, of one of the Caracas Company's Ships named the San Sebastian, which sailed from la Guayra on the 6th of January; her Cargoe consisting in 6,334 Dollars, 6,095 Fanegas of Cacao, 800 Hides, and other Effects.

Turin, May 25. On Saturday last the 21st, his Sardinian Majesty and the rest of the Royal Family removed from hence to the Venerie.

Dresden, May 29. The Prussian Generals here, Baron Wylich and M. Bornslett, have received an Account from the Camp before Prague, that they began to batter the City on the 24th, but that they had thrown no Bombs into it on the 25th. The Austrians have Provision enough, but begin to want Forage, so that their Horses must soon feed upon Men. On the 24th they attempted to sally out with a Body of Troops, consisting of upwards of 10,000 Men, but were happily repulsed and driven back; on which Occasion Prince Ferdinand, the King of Prussia's youngest Brother, had a Horse killed under him, and was himself slightly wounded. The Duke of Bevern, with the Army of Observation, has pitched his Camp near Kolin; and, if he offers to advance, the Austrians, under General Daun, withdraw. As it was impossible to carry the large Magazine the Prussians took at Pilsen to their own Camp, which was then at the Distance of 12 German Miles, they entirely burnt and destroyed it.
