

this Day a new Fire is seen to be kindled. It is impossible to determine the Damage the Bombardment has already done, or what Effect the Fires in the Town will have upon the Garrison, they having yet made no Proposition whatever; but it is remarkable, that since Yesterday Morning, hardly one single Shot has been fired from the Town, which is imputed either to their Want of Ammunition, or perhaps of proper Artillery. The Shot already fired from the Town have been of six Pounds and some of Twelve, from whence it is conjectured that the Artillery they have is chiefly the Field Pieces belonging to the Battalions. This Morning early about 5000 Horse, supported by as many Foot, came out of the Town, on the other Side of the River, near the Wischerad. They advanced towards the Redoute on the Left of the King's Camp, where Prince Henry Commands, but were there so warmly received by the Fire from the Redoute, that they returned into Town again; and it is conjectured from this, that in Prague the Forage for Horses begins to fail.

Warsaw, June 1. The Russians are transporting the Magazines they had at Grodno, to Keydany and Kownow, which two Towns are, it is said, to be the Places of General Rendezvous.

Turin, June 1. His Sardinian Majesty has lately made the following Ecclesiastical Promotions, the Abbé Scarampi, one of the Royal Chaplains, Bishop of Vigevano; the Abbé des Rouffi, Bishop of Alexandria; the Abbés Martinian and St. Martin Bishops of St. Jean de Maurienne and Asti.

Cologne, June 9. By Accounts from Dusseldorf, we are informed, That the Corps of Palatin Troops, encamped near that City, had received Orders to join the French Army, and that they were to march, as this Day, or Saturday next. According to our Advices from Warendorff of the 5th Instant, The French then had their Right at Widembrugge, their Left at Telligt, and the Center at Warendorff; and, it was expected they would march forward on the 6th or 7th.

Cologne, June 13. Eight Boats are arrived here from France; three loaded with Corn, three with Straw, and two with Cannon Balls, &c. The Corn was immediately sent to the Mills to grind, in order to its being conveyed to the Army; and every Swiss Captain of the two Battalions here, is obliged to furnish a Cart, with four Horses, to carry the Flower to the Army. There is come to Liege seventeen Casks, each containing Five Hundred Thousand French Livres, in all Eight Millions Five Hundred Thousand Livres, for the Payment of the Army; the Controleur General having experienced, that the Circulation of Money, by Amsterdam, costs the King too dear. We have received Accounts which mention, that, on the 9th Instant, Marshal d'Estrées had been at the Castle of Rheda, to take a View of the Left of his Royal Highness the Duke's Army, with an Intention to attack it in a few Days, if it is found attackable; so that we expect to hear of an Action.

Brussels, June 10. It is confirmed, by all the Letters from France, that the Regiments which are remaining in the Interior Parts of that Kingdom, as well as many others, from Brittany and Normandy, have received Orders to march with all possible Speed into Alsace.

Brussels, June 14. Besides the 12 Battalions of Militia that are ordered to march from Lille, and the neighbouring Places, to garrison the Towns in Germany in the Possession of the French, there are likewise ordered to join Marshal d'Estrées Army, the Swiss Regiment of Wittemer, of 1440 Men, the Volontaires de Flandres, and Volontaires de Haynault, each of 420 Men, and 20 Companies of Militia Grenadiers, called Grenadiers Postiches, which were to begin their March from Lorraine thro' the Dutchy of Luxembourg on the 10th Instant. The 12 Battalions of Militia are to pass through this Town.

Hague, June 10. Letters from the Empire say, That the Elector of Bavaria has actually signed a Convention of Neutrality with the King of Prussia, and that the Minister, who was sent with it to the Camp before Prague, has already passed through Ratibon on his Way home, with his Prussian Majesty's Ratification of it. The States of Holland are to meet next Week, when they are to take into Consideration the Situation of their Trade in the North, and the Measures it may be necessary to take in Consequence thereof. Letters from Wesel of the 7th Instant advise, That they had prepared an Hospital there, in which there were 5000 Beds. That the Regiment of Bergh, which was quartered at Wesel, marched the 4th for Munster: That a Battalion of the Royal Artillery, which arrived the 7th at Wesel, was to depart from thence the 8th for the same Place; and that the Transportation of Forage and Ammunition, from Wesel to Munster, still continued: That the 34 Squadrons of Horse, which had encamped a Month ago at Ruremond, were still there, though they had been, for several Days past, expecting, every Instant, to march from thence.

Hague, June 14. The last Letters from the French Army say, That His Royal Highness was extremely well posted. The two Armies were so near one another, that they had frequent Skirmishes, but nothing of Importance is yet come to our Knowledge. His Royal Highness had withdrawn his Posts from Paderborn and Rittberg, after having taken away every Thing which could be of any Service to the French. Marshal d'Estrées has not above 40 Squadrons of Horse with him, and the Cavalry, which was encamped at Ruremonde and elsewhere, had not marched towards Wesel, by the last Advices received from those Quarters. They write from Wesel of the 10th Instant, That Marshal d'Estrées Army, which had marched to Warendorff, was, that Day, to march to encamp at Rheda: That it consisted of 70 Battalions, 40 Squadrons, and 52 Pieces of Cannon. The Body of Horse, which encamped at Ruremonde, was expected, the same Day, the 10th, at Wesel; but, however, by the Letters of To-Day, we have not yet Advice of its Departure from thence. All the Horses of the Army, even those of the General Officers, have been put to green Forage. A great Number of Officers and Soldiers of the Army fall sick, and the Hospitals begin to fill.
