Camp before Prague, June 8. Last Thursday the two Bridges which had been carried away by the Floods in the River were repair'd, and the Communication between the two Armies is now open. On Friday Morning early one of the Fore Posts (a small Redoute with 80 Men and three Pieces of Cannon) was surprized by a Party of Austrian Grenadiers, supported by 200 Pandours: They threw their Grenades into the Fort, put the Men into Confusion, and, before Assistance came, the Pandours carried away the Cannon; the Loss of Men was inconsiderable, about 12 or 15 on each Side. Deserters say that the Garrison of Prague have been amus'd with Signals being made from the Steeples for Count Daun's Army to advance, however he is at too great a Distance to return any of them. Since last Friday to this present Time the Austrians have attempted nothing, but our Men have been kept constantly alert, and the Guards in all the Out Forts have been reinforced; another Precaution likewise has been made use of, viz. Chevaux de Frise have been placed on the Edge of the Fossé of those Redoutes, which will make any Attempt to surprize them more difficult. Besides the four former Batteries, in which there are both Mortars and Cannon, two new ones of Cannon only, have been rais'd on the other Side of the River. Till Monday last our Batteries played incessantly, and kept the Town on Fire Night and Day in several Places. Since that Time the Fire of the Batteries has abated; but they still continue firing, especially in the Night, and there is hardly a Shot fired from the Town. The Out Guards of Pandours at every Gate, receive a Reward for each Deforter they take. Two Deserters, who came in last Night, say that even the Subaltern Officers have no Meat given them; and that two Days ago the Garrison in Prague began to kill their Horses, of which a certain Number is distributed daily among the Troops. Last Monday came an Account, that, upon a Motion made by the Prince of Bevern, Count Daun's Army had quitted a very strong Post on the High Grounds near Kuttenberg, and encamped in the Plain, with the Right at Czasslau, and the Left at Malechaw: This Day we have Notice that they have left that Camp, and are retiring to Teutsch-Brod, towards Moravia: That the Prince of Bevern has taken Possession of Czasslau, where he found four Days Provision for his whole Corps; that he is following them in their Retreat, and had taken about 80 Prisoners, and killed 40 or 50 Men. Lieutenant Colonel Meyer continues his Operations with Success; and though his original Force did not exceed 1200 Men, he has rais'd a new Battalion of Deserters, which makes him about 2000 strong, and advanced within three Miles of Nuenberg, where the Senate immediately met, and, after two Days Deliberation, have sent a Deputation to the King of Prussia, to desire a Neutrality. It is hoped that the whole Circle of Franconia will follow this Example, notwithstanding the Efforts made by the Margrave of Anspach to the contrary.

Camp before Prague, June 12. Last Wednesday Night the Town was again set on fire by the Battery on this Side the Moldau, and burnt violently all Night; the next Day they continued firing all Day from the same Battery. The Deserters that come in from Prague, say that it is now 10 Days since they began to kill their Horses; that Forty are given daily to the Troops; that Horse-Flesh is sold at two Grosch, about four Pence, per Pound; that they still continue to brew, but the Price of Beer is considerably rais'd; that there is no Want of Flour, and that Reports are constantly spread of the Approach of Count Daun's Army, and of the French. By our last Accounts the Prince of Bevern continues at Czasslau, and probably will not stir till he receives the Reinforcement from Silesia, which is said to be in full March, and is considerable. Count Daun remains at Teutsch-Brod towards the Frontiers of Moravia.

Vienna, June 8. Count Coloredo, General of Foot, set out from hence last Monday for Marshal Daun's Army.
