nothing extraordinary is to be expected till the Arrival of the Prince of Clermont, which will be some Time in February. There are great Difficulties in the Empire about the March of it's Army, which is reduced to a very small Number, not 8000 Men. The Austrians have a Mind to incorporate them with their Battalions, which is not at all approved of by the Princes and States whose Contingents compose that Army. These Difficulties have occasioned the Journey of the Prince of Saxe Hildburghausen to Vienna, where it is supposed he will endeavour to get rid of his Command.
