Kensington, September 12.

THE following Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars, of the University of Cambridge, was this Day presented to His Majesty by his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, Chancellor, the Reverend Dr. Green, Vice Chancellor, and the Reverend Dr. Law, Master of Peter House College; which Address was most graciously received by His Majesty; and they had the Honour to kiss His Majesty's Hand.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars, of the University of Cambridge.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars, of your University of Cambridge, humbly beg Leave to express our grateful Sense of your Majesty's constant and unwearied Endeavours to maintain the Dignity of your Imperial Crown, and to promote the Happiness of all your People.

It would be unpardonable in us, who have so often felt the Influence of your paternal Care, did we not, at this Time especially, join with the most zealous of our Fellow Subjects, in humbly presenting to your Majesty our sincere and joyful Congratulations, upon the many signal Successes which have attended your Majesty's wise and vigorous Measures, for the Vindication of the just Rights of your Kingdoms, the Support of your Allies, and the Defence of the common Liberties of Europe.

The Conquest of Cape Breton, and the strong Fortress of Louisbourg, is an Event, not less glorious to your Majesty's Arms, than important to the Interests of your Subjects, for the extending of their Trade, and the securing of the British Colonies, so essential to the Wealth and Strength of the Mother Country.

The great Reduction of the Naval Force of France, by taking and destroying so many of their Ships of War in America and other Parts; the successful Acquisition of one of their principal Settlements in Africa; the Distresses brought upon them by the repeated Attacks of their Coast; and the Demolition of Works erected at a great Expence to annoy this Country, must produce the most beneficial Consequences, by weakening our Enemies, and supporting the Power and Commerce of Great Britain.

The memorable Victory at Crevelt, and the other great Advantages gained over the common Enemy, by the Bravery of your Majesty's Electoral Troops, and those of your Allies, under the able Conduct of Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick, give us the more particular Pleasure, as they highly conduce to rescue from Oppression those of your Majesty's Dominions, that have been so unjustly invaded, and have suffered the most barbarous Treatment in a Cause entirely British.

We cannot here omit to declare our unfeigned Joy for the compleat Victory obtained, at this critical Juncture, by your Majesty's faithful and magnanimous Ally the King of Prussia, upon whose Success, in Conjunction with your Majesty, the Fate of the Protestant Interest in Germany does so much depend.

So many successive, happy Events, afford us just Reason to hope, that the Blessing of God upon your Majesty's Arms and Councils, may ere long, procure a safe, honourable, and lasting Peace; and that our holy Religion, under the Protection of the Divine Providence, will ever be able to withstand the secret Attempts, and open Violence, of all its Adversaries.

Permit us, most gracious Sovereign, to add our fervent Prayers, that your Majesty, under whose auspicious Government your loyal Subjects possess so many inestimable Blessings, may, in perfect Tranquillity, enjoy a long and glorious Reign, over a dutiful and grateful People; and that the Virtues of your Royal Descendants, derived from your Majesty, may transmit to our latest Posterity the Benefits of your Illustrious Example.

The following Address of the Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty, of the City of Bristol, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, has by him been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty, of the City of Bristol, in Common Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty, of the City of Bristol, in Common Council assembled, humbly crave Leave to testify our Joy, and do most sincerely congratulate your Majesty on the happy and glorious Success of your Arms in the Conquest of the Islands of Cape Breton and St. John, and the important Fortress of Louisbourg: A Conquest so compleat in all its Circumstances, as must convince your Enemies, that British Valour, under the Conduct of resolute and skilful Commanders, is superior to the greatest Difficulties.

We having an entire Confidence in your Royal Wisdom and Goodness, doubt not but your Councils, and the several Operations of your
